U. S. WARSHIPS HIT NORTH SOLOMONS, RENDOVA FALLS

BEEF VALUES INCREASED ONE TO TWO POINTS

Boost Ordered as OPA Sees Supplies Hit New Low For Month of July.

TAKE EFFECT JULY 4

Some Cuts of Veal, Lamb and Mutton Also Raised Under New Schedule.

The Office of Price Administration (OPA), predicting a new low in beef supplies available for civilians in July, today increased ration values of beef cuts by another point a pound, and in a few cases, 2 points.

The new point values for beef, which for Mansfielders place the ration cost of the most popular cuts at from 9 to 13 points, become effective July 4.

Unless the supply situation should warrant changes in the meantime, the new point values will remain in effect until Aug. 1.

Officials said the revised values were based on the present "bad" meat supply situation, with no allowance for improvement or deterioration. Any appreciable change in the supply might necessitate changes before the end of the month.

A table showing new point values on meats will be found in today's News-Journal on Page 11.

In addition to higher point values for beef, OPA also raised red coupon costs of some cuts of veal, lamb and mutton from 1 to 2 points a pound. These cuts include leg of veal, veal cutlets, veal loin and rib chops, and similar lamb-mutton cuts. Point values of the most popular pork cuts were not changed.

Canned fish items, with the exception of oysters, were increased from 8 to 12 points. Oysters went up from 3 to 5 points.

"Red" reductions were confined for the most part to the fats, oils and dairy products groups. Margarine and lard dropped 1 point—5 to 4—while "process" butter, sold mainly in the south, appeared on the table for the first time at 4 points a pound. Regular butter remains unchanged at

Mansfield Soldier Wounded In Action In South Pacific

Stationed with the 37th division in the southwest Pacific, Pvt. Lowell J. Charles, son of Mrs. A. B. Charles, 234 East Third street, has been wounded in action.

The war department notified the soldier's mother and wife that Pvt. Charles had suffered "slight injuries" on June 16.

At the same time it was announced that Pvt. Thomas Reed of Ashland, who fought with the valiant little army in defense of the Philippines was a prisoner of war in Japan.

Charles was a member of Battery D, Ohio National Guard, which was mustered into service three years ago. He received his basic training at Camp Shelby, Miss.

He has two brothers in the service, William, at Camp Howze, Tex., and Foy, a Marine, who recently returned from Guadalcanal.

Reed enlisted in 1940. He went overseas with an artillery unit shortly before the outbreak of hostilities in the Pacific.

His step-mother, Mrs. Flora Reed, resides at 529 Cottage street, Ashland.

IN ARMY NOW!

FDR Signs Bill Making WAAC's the WAC

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The WAACS are the WAC now and officially in the army.

President Roosevelt today signed a bill establishing the Women's Army Corps, until now the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps. The status of the girls now is changed from that of an auxiliary to a regular, and they are part and parcel of the army just as much as any four star general.

Holiday to Be Quiet One In Mansfield

Boat Club's Celebration to Top July 4 Week-End Program.

Too busy with the war to give much time to celebrating, Mansfield will observe the July 4 double holiday Sunday and Monday without the usual fanfare and fireworks that have become a part of the nation's Independence day programs.

The city area won't be without its entertainment, however, although the Mansfield Public Parks association has decided to forego its celebration which in recent years has attracted thousands of persons to the fairground.

A patriotic and war bond-selling program has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the Pleasant Hill boat club on the lake southeast of Mansfield.

Sponsored by the boat club, the program at the lake is designed to provide entertainment at home for Richland countians. Kent Rummel is chairman of the committee in charge of the celebration.

Scheduled to get under way at 1 p. m. Sunday, the Pleasant Hill lake celebration will feature contests and boat races. The Westinghouse 711 band will play during the afternoon and there will be free boat rides on the lake for persons who buy bonds.

Tub and plank races will be staged for children and every boy and girl who enters will receive 25 cents. The winner in each contest will get a $3 prize.

Also on the program are swimming races for men and women and outboard motor board races open to 17 and 22-horsepower boats.

Two children's parades in the Western avenue and Bowman school districts will help to enliven the holiday in Mansfield. Pupils in the two districts will stage costume parades through their communities at 11 a. m. Monday. The Western avenue youngsters will meet at the home of Mrs. C. C. Warner, 575 Helsman Boulevard, and the Bowman pupils at the home of Mrs. R. E. McCulloch, 195 Buckingham street.

TWO ESCAPE

Reformatory Inmates Flee In Guard's Auto.

Two Ohio State Reformatory trustys were at liberty today after escaping from the institution farm yesterday in an automobile owned by Arthur Garver, a guard.

The fugitives are John Mullen, 23, admitted June 11, 1941 from Cuyahoga county for unarmed robbery and driving an automobile without the owner's consent, and Ralph Inscho, 23, admitted Aug. 7, 1941, from Franklin county for burglary and auto theft.

The couple was missed at 1 p. m. after the car a 1938 model bearing the license number UV794, was discovered missing. The car was parked adjacent to the blacksmith shop, near where the men were working. No keys were in the car.

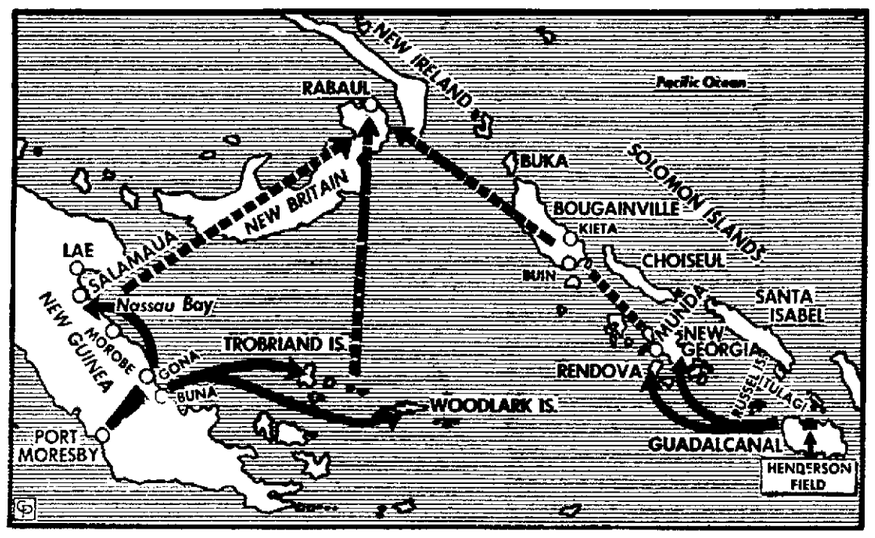
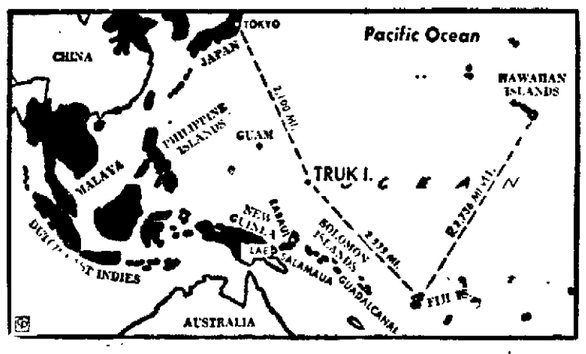
The broadcast, reported by the London Daily Sketch, said a nightly curfew has been established in many Syrian cities and travel is severely restricted.

Allied Offensive Gains Against Japanese



With the Jap fleet in hiding, possibly at Truk island, the Allied offensive in command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur swept ahead today with U. S. warships striking boldly and unopposed into the northern Solomon islands. The map above presents the general outline of the Yank-led advance aimed now at Munda, which is being shelled, and Salamaua which the Australians have been harrassing. Soon the attack is expected to develop into a pincers blow at the big Jap base at Rabaul and possibly later a thrust at Truk (see lower map) the enemy's greatest base in the Pacific.



ANNOUNCES 2 DRAFT CHANGES

State Increases Furloughs To 3 Weeks, Says Dads Won't Be Drafted Before Sept. 1.

Two developments on the Ohio draft situation were announced in Columbus today by state selective service headquarters.

One was the lengthening from two to three weeks the furloughs given newly inducted army men. This ruling is effective July 15. Men inducted in the navy, marines or coast guard will continue to receive one week furloughs.

Second development was the announcement that Ohio fathers will not be drafted before Sept. 1 at the earliest. In its advance notice to local draft boards for the August call, headquarters specified that bona fide fathers still are not subject to call.

State draft officials said a bona fide father was one maintaining a genuine family relationship with a child born before Sept. 14, 1942. Children born after that date are not a basis for deferment. A wife no longer entitles a man to a 3-A classification.

Draft regulations provide that volunteers must be accepted first by local boards, followed in order by men without dependents, men with collateral dependents and men with wives who were married before Dec. 8, 1942.

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — Union leaders, who earlier in the week prophesied a prompt return to work of all of western Pennsylvania's 120,000 soft coal miners, today could see no hope for 100 per cent production before next Tuesday, the end of the July 4 holiday weekend.

Bulk of the recalcitrant 45,000 United Mine workers are not likely to enter the pits, UMW local presidents reluctantly admitted, until both the holiday and their vacation pay are spent.

By next week, however, the resentment of the miners over their

'Revivalists' Seek Publisher as GOP Candidate For '44.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Republican nationalist revival committee approved a resolution last night urging Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

The resolution was approved at a rally of Republicans opposed to Wendell Willkie, G. O. P. candidate in 1940. It urged Republicans to express a preference for McCormick in the Illinois preferential primary next April.

The principal issue in the 1944 election will be "nationalism versus internationalism," the resolution said. It described McCormick as "an American nationalist and a leader in the Republican party."

TRAITOR GAY AS FDR SAVES HIM

Shouts For Joy as President Calls Sentence Too Severe, Hopes For Freedom.

(By Associated Press)

MILAN, Mich. — (AP) — Plucked back from the gallows' shadow seven hours before he was to have been hanged as a traitor, German-born Max Stephan kissed the hands of his lawyer and jailer, wept and shouted for joy until he collapsed—and today looked forward to some future presidential commutation restoring his freedom.

President Roosevelt spared his life. The chief executive commuted to a life term the death sentence which had been pronounced upon the one-time German army sergeant. The order declared "the president hopes that no one of his successors will commute that sentence," but to Stephan the words were cause for wild rejoicing.

James E. McCabe, one of Stephan's attorneys, said he expected no further plea for clemency would be made for his client while the nation is at war, but that the return to peace would be a different story.

In Detroit, Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle had "nothing to say" about the president's assertion that the death sentence he thrice had pronounced upon Stephen "was too severe" and "did not sufficiently take into account the statute which provides for the different qualities of treason."

The White House statement said President Roosevelt considered Stephan's crime of harboring and assisting an escaped German prisoner of war was less serious than the crime for which six Nazi saboteurs paid with their lives in Washington, the other to 30 years at hard labor.

Two-Man Jap Submarine to Be At Park From 5 to 10 Tonight

Mansfield will get its first view tonight of one of the two-man Jap submarines captured after the Pearl Harbor attack.

Sent here by the Navy department to help boost the city's sale of war stamps and bonds, the 81-foot-long sub will be on display at Central park from 5 to 10 p. m. today for persons who buy stamps and bonds.

Admission for adults is one dollar's worth of stamps or a stamp corsage which will be on sale at the park. Children will be admitted for 25 cents worth of stamps. In every case the purchaser keeps the stamps.

Persons who can show they purchased war bonds between June 21 and July 2 also will be admitted free.

Five Mansfield bands will provide entertainment throughout the evening. Musical units which will join in the concert program are the Senior high, Madison high, and Westinghouse Local 711 bands, McVey post American Legion drum and bugle corps, and the Eugene Smart Accordion band.

A freak in naval warfare, the "little" sub has been reduced in weight from 35 tons to 17 and a half tons by substituting exact replicas of its torpedoes, demolition charge, batteries, and the motor for the heavier original equipment. The replicas are made of lighter material.

The sub normally carries two 18-foot torpedoes and a 300-pound nitroglycerin charge to blow itself up. The torpedoes were discharged by compressed air. When a charge was released, enough water was taken in through a small door beneath the bow to balance the weight of the torpedo and keep the sub from rising.

The sub was made for little men, for its maximum inside height is only five feet and one inch. Only entrance is through a 15 and one-fourth inch opening at the top.

Mansfield Still Turns Deaf Ear To Farm Appeals

While requests for farm labor continued to pile up in Richland county today, city workers apparently continued to turn a deaf ear toward urgent appeals from farmers.

George B. Ganyard, county extension agent, said that dozens of requests for farm help are on file, nearly four times the amount of registrations of volunteer workers.

More than 20 requests have been made by local farmers for immediate assistance in getting their hay in from the field. Many need help for the entire summer and are willing to take either men or boys.

Among the requests for immediate help are those of Eugene Maggert, Mansfield R. D. 3, who

ANTI-SUBSIDY BILL VETOED BY PRESIDENT

Dem Leaders Say House Will Uphold Killing of CCC Measure.

FDR ACTS QUICKLY

Expected To Tell Congress Today Legislation Would Hit Hold-the-Line.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Declaring it to be "an inflation bill," which would set the soldier, worker, and unorganized consumer "at war with the farmer," President Roosevelt vetoed today a bill which would extend the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation and also junk the administration's plan to whittle down food prices by subsidizing processors.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt has vetoed the commodity credit corporation bill because of its anti-subsidy provisions and will send a veto message to congress today.

Democratic leaders were confident that the veto will be upheld in the house, with the result that the subsidy and roll-back program will be continued in substance under the "hold the line" order on wages and prices.

In contrast to his action in waiting until the 10th day to veto the anti-strike bill, the president will inform congress of his stand within 48 hours after congress finally passed the CCC bill with its ban on subsidies.

In vetoing the bill to save his subsidy program Mr. Roosevelt temporarily killed his giant commodity credit corporation.

Mr. Roosevelt turned the measure down because he felt that the "hold the line" order stabilizing prices and wages must be kept to avoid a ruinous spiral of inflation.

He and his top advisers on price control took the position that they would accept an equally good substitute for the subsidy plan—but that congress has proposed none and price control experts have been unable to devise one.

The veto was expected to infuriate "farm bloc" groups which have charged that the roll-back of meat and butter prices is chiefly responsible for the current meat shortage, and predicted that expansion of the subsidy plan would eventually cost $5,000,000,000 annually and lead to a food famine.

While some members indicated that they would demand that con-

YOU'RE RICH!

Ickes Says Everybody's Worth $89,000.

NEW YORK—(INS)—If you are feeling slightly less prosperous than usual today after computing your first payroll withholding tax, here's an optimistic note. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes says every man jack of us in America is worth $89,000.

The secretary measures this wealth which you cannot cash, by the total wealth of the U. S. which he estimates to be 512,023,000,000,000. If you're inexperienced in astronomical figurges, that reads 12 trillion 23 billion dollars.

If anything, insists Ickes, this is conservative. He bases his estimate only on known resources, coal, water power, oil, etc., factories, and even allows that we only have enough oil left in the ground to last a generation.

Yanks Bombard Munda as Jap Navy Hides Out

123 Enemy Planes Blasted Out of Sky Over New Georgia Islands; U. S. Loses 25 Planes, 15 Pilots; Fleet Boldly Hits Faisi.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (UP) — American dive bombers and torpedo planes blasted Japanese defense positions in the central Solomons as U. S. Marines and Army troops closed in on the enemy's key base at Munda on New Georgia island, the navy announced today.

(By Associated Press)

Allied naval supremacy in the Southwest Pacific appeared unchallenged today as U. S. warships steamed deep into the northern Solomons, shelling a series of Japanese strongholds, while victorious American troops completed the conquest of Rendova island after wiping out the enemy garrison.

U. S. shore batteries on Rendova were heavily bombarding the Japanese air base at Munda, New Georgia island seven miles away.

A bulletin from Admiral William F. Halsey's headquarters announced today that 123 Japanese planes had been blasted out of the skies over the New Georgia islands Wednesday and Thursday, against a loss of 25 U. S. planes and 15 pilots.

Twenty-two enemy aircraft were destroyed Thursday, a communique said, after 101 had been knocked down the day before as the enemy apparently threw every available aircraft into an attempt to break up the American thrust.

At Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, a spokesman said tonight (Australian time) that there was nothing further to report from the New Guinea or Solomon fronts. From this it was assumed that all operations were proceeding satisfactorily and on schedule.

Gen. MacArthur's command said Allied warships pounded the enemy at Munda and Vila, on nearby Kolombangara island, and boldly paraded into the heart of the enemy's northern Solomon defenses to attack the Faisi area.

Faisi is a village in the Shortland islands, 30 miles southeast across Bougainville strait from the big enemy base of Buin on the southern tip of Bougainville island.

There was no sign of the Japanese fleet rallying forth to battle in the four-day-old Allied offensive.

Dispatches said Allied casualties in the Solomons had been light despite the hazards.

Imperial Tokyo headquarters again broadcast fantastic claims, asserting that Japanese forces had sunk six Allied warships and three transports, damaged five other vessels and shot down 77 planes in the battle of Rendova island Wednesday and Thursday.

The enemy claims, sharply conflicting with acknowledged Allied losses, said the ships destroyed included a cruiser, four large destroyers and a small destroyer. Another cruiser, a destroyer and three transports were listed as damaged.

Tokyo admitted the loss of only 31 Japanese planes in scoring these purported successes.

The navy announced yesterday that a single Allied vessel, a transport, was lost. While American troops consolidated their hold on Rendova island across from the enemy base at Munda, New Georgia, other U. S. soldiers surged forward into the jungles of New Guinea on the left flank of the 700-mile Allied offensive arc.

Dispatches said sea-borne Americans who swarmed ashore at Nassau bay without losing a man were meeting resistance as they struck inland toward a junction with Australian forces in the Mubo area, eight miles away, but details were lacking.

Australian patrols also moving toward a junction with the Americans killed 26 Japanese and

Brilliant Attack Catches Japs Napping, Says Witness

WITH U. S. FLAGSHIP OF DESTROYER DIVISION, Between Rendova Island and Munda Point, June 30.—(Delayed)—An all-out American assault on the Japanese stronghold of New Georgia island got away to a flying start at dawn this morning.

The brilliantly conceived and daringly executed plan caught the Japanese flat-footed and the landing of men and materials actually had begun before shore batteries opened fire against the destroyer screen.

It was late afternoon before the Japanese hit us but by then we were on the way back to base, having landed every man and all our supplies.

It was a savage and persistent Japanese mass torpedo and bomber attack. One torpedo crashed into the bows of the destroyer on which I was observing the operation and which I shall call in the future "The Can."

The torpedo failed to explode or damage the destroyer in any way, however, although the tiny vessel shuddered and reeled at the moment of impact and as the torpedo bumped along the side before falling harmlessly away.

Now that it is over and we've gotten away with one of the most brazen attacks against the Japanese, it is almost impossible to believe we have accomplished the objective.

We took off in mid-afternoon.

There were navigational hazards a-plenty because of the smaller ships which have limited navigational facilities. In the welcome rain of the pitchblack night some of these unavoidably kept nosing in among the main body of the ships. Some of them had the appearance of submarines, which required that all hands keep a sharp lookout.

Away ahead the main convoy of destroyers landed troops on the tiny islands of Bau and Kokirana which guard the 100-yard-wide Renard entrance to the equally small Rendova harbor. Their purpose was to knock out any likely Japanese parties, enabling the main landing to go ahead.

Immediately after the transports arrived, four destroyers dropped astern and another four, including The Can, proceeded west, heading into Munda Point with the object of drawing Japanese fire.

The Can was second in line as

NEW YORK — (INS) — Despite a lack of organized competition and loss of many stars to the services, golf will make a notable contribution to the home front war effort on Aug. 7-8 at Detroit when Walter Hagen's All-Stars and the Ryder Cup players meet again for the Red Cross, with a match between the Haig himself and Gene Sarazen a possibility. They expect to draw about $25,000 worth of customers to see the biggest golf event of the year. If Hagen and Sarazen meet in one of the matches they might have to call out the Marines to police the Plum Hollow Country Club.

"The Red Cross will get all the dough and it should be a sizeable chunk again, especially with Hagen saying, as he did in a conversation with me, that he hopes to tangle up with Sarazen again," said Fred Corcoran.

Corcoran is the man who used to run the national professional championships to the satisfaction of everybody and the man who only a couple of weeks ago returned from England where he had been on a tour of entertainment duty for the Red Cross. He will return to England soon after the Detroit show.

"How much money we are likely to make for the Red Cross can be gleaned from the figures on the past matches between these teams," said Corcoran. "In 1940 we raised $12,800, in 1941 $18,200 in 1942 $25,000, the 1942 proceeds going to the U. S. O."

* * *

Hagen is going to invite Major Robert Tyre Jones, jr., of Atlanta and the U. S. air forces to participate with his team, which he will captain himself against the Ryder cup hangovers led by Craig Wood.

* * *

Hagen's team will be picked from among whatever players are available—Sam Byrd, Chick Harbert, Henry Picard, Harry Cooper, Dick Metz, Al Watrous, Frank Walsh and possibly Paul Runyan, the latter now in the service.

Wood's team will be made up of himself, Jimmy DeMaret, host pro at Plum Hollow; Lloyd Mangrum, Jug McSpaden, Byron Nelson and that Sarazen, of course, with Ben Hogan, Horton Smith, Vic Ghezzi and Sam Snead eligible but unlikely starters due to their being in the service.

Russell Gnau, chairman of the Red Cross committee, and Corcoran are putting all the steam behind this one that the traffic will bear and they figure that with everybody now just about starved for some golf activity after the long drought through cancellation of the major fixtures that the show will be great and the crowd greater.

If it so happens that Hagen and Sarazen are brought together the thing will be a booming natural.

* * *

They haven't met since 1923 when Sarazen beat the Haig in the finals of the national pro championship in 38 holes. Through the years Hagen won 11 major championships and Sarazen six, the latter being a hot contender for the national open as late as 1940. That was the year he tied Lawson Little at Cleveland and lost in a tough playoff.

* * *

They happen to be two of the three guys who are remembered most deeply by the golf addicts because of the headlines they made back in the lush 20's. Bobby Jones is the other member of the triumvirate, and his presence also would go a long ways toward pulling in the customers.

And Corcoran says it will be all right with the Red Cross if the customers do like they did for the recent big baseball day.

That is, anybody who can't attend himself will be welcomed if he still will step in there and buy a ticket to send a service man, thus killing two birds with one swoop of the nblick—entertaining a service man and helping the Red Cross fund.

Sox Rookie Maintains Fast Pace

Curtwright, 31-Year-Old Rookie, Hits In 26th Game.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—When Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis cut the shackles from some 90 players in the Detroit farm system a few years ago, he loosed a flood of talent on the majors that has resulted in a remarkable succession of stars, latest and possibly best of which seems to be Guy Curtwright.

This rookie Chicago outfielder, a regular on the White Sox only because Manager Jimmy Dykes had no other choice early in the season, is crowding 31 but now is one of the lustiest sluggers in the American league.

Curtwright sports 1943's longest successive batting streak, having hit safely in 26 consecutive games after belting out a triple as the White Sox blanked the Senators, 2-0, yesterday.

* * *

Curtwright is clipping the ball at an average of .342 for 152 times at bat in 49 games. He has slammed out 52 hits, driven in 16 runs and scored 18. If Dykes had a couple more like him, the White Sox might be a lot higher than tied for fourth place in the junior circuit.

* * *

Early Wynn yielded Curtwright his triple along with eight other Chicago hits as Bill Dietrich blanked a Washington team that found Bob Johnson set at third and Gene Moore in the outfield to add to their batting power. A pair of singles, Thurman Tucker's double and Mike Tresh's sacrifice produced the Chicago runs in the seventh

The Browns, held helpless by Rookie Don Black for 10 innings, slapped out four straight singles in the 11th to whip the Athletics, 2-1. Black allowed only two hits until the 11th when Vernon Stephens, Mike Chartak, Al Zarilla and Joe Schultz all nicked him for one-baggers.

A pinch-single by Ned Harris in the ninth with the bases loaded gave the Tigers a 3-2 win over the Red Sox in a twilight game. All three of the Detroit runs were unearned, two coming in the eighth on a walk, an error, a passed ball and a single.

Brooklyn muffed a perfect opportunity to wrest the National league lead from the idle Cardinals by bowing to the Reds, 10-9, in 12 innings.

* * *

Canny Elmer Riddle, fifth Cincinnati pitcher, provided a Merriwell climax to the game by retiring Arky Vaughan, Joe Medwick and Dolph Camilli on successive pop-ups after the Dodgers put across one run and loaded the bases with none out in their half of the 12th.

* * *

The Phillies divided with the Pirates, winning the first game, 6-1, and losing the second, 2-1. Schoolboy Rowe unwound a five-hitter in the first game as the Phillies banged out 12 hits.

The veteran righthander had a no-hitter until Bob Elliott beat out a bunt in the seventh.

Bob Klinger held the Phillies to seven hits as his mates garnered eight off Al Gerheauser in the nightcap. Elliott's double and Frankie Gustine's single provided the winning run in the fourth as Klinger pitched runless ball until the eighth.

Chicago took Boston's measure for the seventh straight time, 6-5. Paul Derringer, although he left the scene in the eighth and was followed by three other pitchers, was credited with his sixth success. Bill Nicholson paced the Cubs with a double and two singles.

WRIGHT AT MIAMI

OXFORD—(AP)—Miami University reported Bob Wright, former Ohio State University hurdle star, is among 400 new enrollees in the naval training program here.

Two-Handed Star Hailed as No. 1 Netman

MIAMI—Winner of the National Collegiate Athletic association's singles championship, Francisco Segura, the South American who carries the colors of the University of Miami, is being hailed as the No. 1 tennis player of the year. The little Spaniard has gone through two tournaments—knocking off 12 opponents—without losing a set. He plays an awkward-appearing game because of an unorthodox two-handed racket grip, but he has proven that power, speed and accuracy are more essential requirements than form.

Sport Roundup

NEW YORK—(AP)—Maybe you think things are a bit dull in the sports line, but the word is that they're having a right good season in Northern Africa . . . We have this straight from Corp. Vince Murphy, occasional contributor to this column and son of Sports Editor Jimmy Murphy of the Canton (Ill.) Daily Ledger.

V-MAIL

"Probably the most interesting event yet pulled off in N. Africa, excluding Rommel's bicycle act," Vince writes, "was a softball game played recently for a $2,000 pot. It seems that a news story praising a team composed of a group of former Texas softballers playing under the name of the 'Texans' was read by members of a mid-western unit whose ball club is called the 'OMVACS.' The OMVACS claimed a prior victory over the Texans and allowed they could repeat. Upshot of the discussion was the decision that each team would wager 1,000 skins on a winner-take-all basis. Partisans of both teams were quick to collect funds to back their favorites and the game drew 3,000 fans. The OMVACS took the decision 6-4, although the Texans gave them a mighty scare in the final inning when one of the Lone Star boys hoisted a mighty drive that the OMVAC centerfielder had to take off the fence."

* * *

Nat Fleischer, historian of the ring, whose latest list shows 3,068 professional boxers and about twice as many amateurs in the armed forces, also has been hearing from Northern Africa . . . Weekly fight shows in Tunisia have been drawing big crowds and when American soldier scrappers meet up with native boxers the boys really lay their dough on the line to back their favorites.

DOMESTIC DEPT.

When Clark Shaughnessy collected his first Pitt football squad for practice the other day, he told them. "We will have as many as 10,000 pass plays." . . . And in reply to a few skeptical looks, Clark insisted that with small variations he might really approach that figure . . . Since Pitt has only six veterans on a squad of 56, one variation likely will be the play where the coach buries his face in his head and refuses to look until it's over.

Golfers Stage Best-Ball Match

Westinghouse golf league players staged a best-ball match yesterday, with a pair of 35's turned in as the lowest best-ball score for the event.

Mathias and Walers put together one of the 35's, and the other was fashioned by Kaufman and Fischer. Two draws were also chalked up.

Grand American Shoot Streamlined

By FRITZ HOWELL

VANDALIA—(AP)—The nation's trapshooters scurried around today in search of a case of shotgun shells—the No 1 requisite for participation in the 44th Grand American Trapshoot set for Aug. 25, 26 and 27.

The big carnival, usually a 1200-target program staged over eight days, was slashed to a three-day, 500-clay event this year because of shell shortages and travel restrictions. Ray Loring, manager of the Amateur Trapshooting association, announced the curtailment of the program, along with an innovation requiring all participants to bring their own ammunition.

A check-up around Ohio disclosed that few jobbers had shotgun shells on hand, the supply having been erased during last fall's hunting season. However, trapshooters said many marksmen had some ammunition tucked away, while retailers had rapidly-dwindling stocks.

INDIANAPOLIS DROPS TWO TO RED BIRDS

(By Associated Press)

The Indianapolis Indians found their early-season runaway lead in the American association practically gone today.

The once high-flying Indians have lost seven of their last 10 games, whittling their league lead to a half a game and bringing about a general tightening-up in the loop's pennant chase.

The Tribe lost a double-header last night to the Columbus Red Birds, 10 to 1 and 4 to 3. Second place Milwaukee muffed a chance to move in front by dropping a decision to St. Paul, 11 to 1.

Toledo grabbed a tie with St. Paul for fifth place by beating the last place Louisville Colonels twice, 5 to 4 and 1 to 0.

Bill Lefebre turned in a six hit hurling job as the Minneapolis Millers downed Kansas City, 8 to 1.

Riddle Returns To Mound Again

BROOKLYN—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Dodgers take to the twilight today to wind up their four-game series, which so far has proved little except that you never know what's going to happen in Brooklyn.

Elmer Riddle, final and winning pitcher of yesterday's 12 inning 10-9 Cincinnati victory, is down to throw for the Reds again today, against Kirby Higbe.

Riddle worked only the 12th inning of yesterday's merry-go-round and half-protected a two-run lead the Reds put together in their half. Elmer handed out three walks and a single to let the Dodgers creep up, then he got the next three men on pop fouls.

The Reds got to Bo-Bo Newsom for four singles and a squeeze bunt to score their two runs in the 12th.

Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati second baseman, hit his first home run of the season in the sixth.

PRODUCTION CUT

BOSTON — (INS) — Brides will average only about half as much wedding-gift silverware this year as heretofore.

Of the 10 active silverplate manufacturers in the nation, five have converted their facilities to producing war goods.

To make available silver go as far as possible, output is restricted to the most essential pieces—knives, forks, spoons, dessert spoons and teaspoons.

NEARLY LOST HANDS

TOPS 'KING'S GUARD'

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—(AP)—Harry Boykoff, St. John University's six-foot-nine basketball sensation, is now a member of the "King's Guard," an outfit of military police all over six feet tall.

Tribe Wins on Yankee Error

CLEVELAND — (AP) — It's Ladies' Day at League park today but it was bargain day yesterday as the New York Yankees contributed a 3 to 2 victory to the reluctant Cleveland Indians.

The Tribesmen were awarded a pair of runs in the opening inning when rookie Charlie Wensloff walked Buddy Rosar and Mike Rocco with the bases jammed.

* * *

* * *

The Redskins did everything possible to keep from scoring but they couldn't help themselves in the face of the Yankees' generosity. Roy Cullenbine singled and Jeff Heath doubled in the third to put runners on second and third with none out but Ken Keltner grounded out, Rosar fanned and Rocco delivered a long fly.

Three bases on balls filled the sacks in the fifth and Hockett doubled and Manager Lou Boudreau walked in the sixth but the scoring punch was lacking in both stanzas.

Al Smith received credit for his second win over the McCarthymen and his sixth triumph of the season.

WHITE RIDES AT RANDALL TODAY

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Ben White, 70-year-old trainer and driver of harness horses, makes his first grand circuit appearance of the year at the North Randall track today.

The veteran reinsman complained of dizziness on the opening day of the meeting and has been in Cleveland clinic for observation. He will pilot Director, owned by E. J. Merkle of Columbus, O., in the American stake for two-year-old trotters. The event has a value of $4.295.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Matchmaker Larry Atkins reported that Chalky Wright, former New York State featherweight champ, would meet Lulu Costantiono of New York in a 10-round bout here July 21.

FENDRICK RECALLS TWO GRID THRILLS

Al Fendrick, who has announced that he won't return to his familiar coaching job at Madison high school next fall, says the biggest thrill of his 14-year coaching regime at the "school on the hill" was beating Shelby 12 to 6, in the 1935 football opener. He lists the Madison-Bellville game of 1939 as a close second. That's the game in which Mathes tossed a touchdown pass to Heichel in the last 10 seconds of play to give the Rams a 13-7 victory.

War Keeping Buck Prospect Uncertain

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — The 1943 prospects of Ohio State university's defending Big Ten football champions still were obscured by the war today as Coach Paul Brown reminded that fall practice—and serious football—are only two months away.

With two months of spring football training and one week of the summer variety behind him, Brown still was unable to predict what kind of a squad the Buckeyes will be able to put on the field—except that it will be the youngest in Ohio State history.

"Only —one thing is certain at this point in the season," he said. "We're trying to get our hands on every potential football player we can and teach him a little about our system in hopes that he may be back in school next fall."

Brown said the make-up of the Ohio State team depended almost entirely on the war.

* * *

"It's impossible to make any concrete plans now because we don't know who will be back and who won't," Brown explained. "Right now we have 39 of the 57 freshmen 17-year-olds who started summer practice a week ago.

* * *

"Several of them were taken by the armer forces. A few were unable to play because they couldn't meet the physical qualifications. And then, of course, there's always an unfortunate few who can't stand the grind and drop out along the way."

Most recent loss was that of Paul Zorn, Niles, O., high school star who Brown had counted on to fill a half back role. Zorn, who was 18 recently, was inducted into the army despite a punctured eardrum which was expected to make him available next fall.

Another loss which will be felt was that of Benton Kirk, of New Philadelphia, who was inducted into the marines. Kirk had been admitted to the Ohio State premedical school and Brown had counted on him as an end.

"The rest of the squad is progressing as well as you could expect a group of 18-year-olds to do," Brown said. "We're working them on a slow-but-sure basis. We want them to get our system and we want them to get it right."

Patty and Dorothy Meet for Title

CHICAGO —(INS)— A great duel between two champions of the north and the south was anticipated today as Patty Berg, Minneapolis professional, teed off with Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., in the 36-hole final match of the women's western open golf championship.

With the goal of her sparkling comeback almost within reach on the Glen Oak course, Miss Berg, winner of the 1941 event, meets a worthy rival in Miss Kirby, former southern champion and national runner-up in 1939.

Miss Berg polished off 18-year-old Catherine Fox of Glen Ridge, N. J., 7 and 6, in yesterday's semi-finals, and Miss Kirby survived a hard-fought battle to win, 3 and 1, from Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, the longest hitter in the field.

Segura Faces New York Star

ELIZABETH, N. J. —(U P)— Defending champion Francisco Segura of Ecuador and the University of Miami, meets Nathan Goldstein of New York in the feature quarter-final match of the New Jersey's men's singles tennis championship today.

Second-seeded Bob Odman of the University of Washington plays Alan Watson of Millrun, N. J.; Bob Wasserman of Ohio State, No. 3, plays Sidney Berger of Irvington, N. J.; and Dick Bender of Princeton University, No. 4, meets Eduardo Bue of Plainfield, N. J., in other matches.

Count Fleet Aims at Whirly Money Record

Derby Winner Has Chance to Hang Up Mark as Greatest Horse of All Time

By OSCAR FRALEY
(UP Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—Count Fleet, that chunky piece of brown velvet lightning from the stables of Mrs. John D. Hertz, is the only colt on the track today with a chance of breaking the money winning record establish by mighty Whirlaway.

And Little Hammerhead, with more pickup than one of his owner's taxicabs, not only is destined to shatter Mr. Longtail's golden horseshoe, but also will become the greatest horse in turf history, it is believed in this corner.

That is a pretty large statement, particularly when you consider that the sport of kings is sprinkled liberally with the names of such equine greats as Exterminator, Seabiscuit, War Admiral and, greatest of them all, Big Red, the one and only Man O'War.

Whirlaway, the Calumet cannonball, had the prospects of stepping up alongside Big Red. But Whirly was injured last winter after piling up racing's greatest bankroll, a total of $561,161, in little more than four years.

The king of the Calumet stables made a game comeback attempt this summer. He started twice and both times failed to come through with that roaring stretch drive that made the others seem to be standing still.

Once he finished third. The next time he was out of the money, and Warren Wright retired his chestnut beauty to his red trimmed barns in the blue grass of Kentucky.

* * *

Whirlaway, not yet clothed in the garments of reminiscence which made Man O'War a legend, was and is a great horse. But there's talk around the stables and paddocks across the country that the Count will become the greatest story book horse of all. Yes, as great, if not greater, than old Red himself.

* * *

As valid a claim to greatness as any is Whirlaway's money winning record. The Calumet Colossus went to the post 60 times, won 32, was second 15 times, third in 19 races and finished out of the green only four times. But the Fleet holds even greater promise, for never has a colt so completely dominated the field. In 21 starts, the Hertz Hurricane won 16 times, placed four times and took show once—never finishing out of the money.

Of course, anything can happen to a thoroughbred, particularly a one as hard-running Count. But don't risk the old homestead on the belief he won't do it.

The only regret around the stalls is that horsemen will never know which would have won—Whirlaway or the Count—in a match race. But they all know that both are great.

Yonkers Gets Hambletonian

ALBANY, N. Y. —(INS)— The Hambletonian, the Kentucky Derby of the trotting world, will be staged this year at the empire city race track in Yonkers, on Aug. 11.

James C. Haggerty, executive assistant to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said a majority of the executive committee of the Hambletonian society had approved switching the big race from its traditional setting at Goshen, N. Y. to Empire. Empire will be given a permit to stage harness racing beginning July 26 through Labor day.

Haegg Frets About Debut

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Gunder Haegg, the attenuated shadow from Gavle, Sweden, holder of a half dozen world running records, looked forward gloomily today to his first appearance in Chicago competition.

He worried about the weather. He hoped it wouldn't be too hot. He knew he wouldn't equal his own mark of 8:47.8 for the two miles and he had a haunting fear (or so he said) that Gil Dodds, the Boston divinity student, would beat him at that distance when they meet tonight at Soldier Field.

One hundred and fifty athletes were entered for tonight's Central A.A.U. meet, but of them all the unsmiling Swedish phenomenon was the one who captured the public imagination.

A crowd nearly mobbed him at the station when he arrived yesterday from his eastern retreat. They kept on his heels until his trainer-interpreter, Siegfried Steinwald, hustled him to the seclusion of his hotel room away from the excitement for a long rest.

Even the fact that Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, the greatest pole vaulter of all time and usually the acclaimed hero, was to participate in the meet failed to take attention from the somber, wraith-like Swede who breaks records with effortless ease.

* * *

Haegg, like a good sportman, expressed pleasure when he heard that his compatriot, Arne Anderson, running at Gothenburg, Sweden, had just shattered Haegg's own record of 4:04.6 for the mile by exactly two full seconds.

* * *

Anderson is an old friendly rival of Gunder's. When Gunder went on his record-breaking spree a year or more ago, Anderson most frequently was the man who furnished the chief competition. Gunder recalled that when he set the 4:04.6 world record for the mile, Anderson ran second, "about five seconds back of me."

U. S. WARSHIPS BOLDLY ATTACK FAISI AREA

Yanks Bombard Munda as Japs Lose 123 Planes, Keep Fleet In Hiding.

wounded many others en route, a communique said.

Elsewhere in the global war:

MEDITERRANEAN — Allied bombers pound Caliari, capital of Sardinia, and renew assault on Sicilian port of Cantania; Rome lists 64 killed, 286 in raid on Palermo.

LONDON—Big new American, Canadian troop contingents reach Britain without a loss in two months.

NERVE WAR — Berlin says 25 Allied transports leave Gibraltar after short halt to make way for new convoy arriving from Atlantic; Italian newspapers declare invasion is imminent.

RUSSIA — Soviet warplanes hammer Germans on both sides of Kerch strait, Moscow observers forecast Russian drive to blast Nazis from last foothold in Caucasus; Red army troops hold newly-won hill on northwest front against 23 German counter-attacks, kill 600 Nazis.

CHINA—Chinese report Japanese lost 55,870 troops in two-month campaign on upper Yangtze river front.

BURMA—RAF bombers strafe Japanese encampments at Akyab, shoot up enemy rail and river transport.

Japs Rely On Air Power Alone

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC—(INS)—The Japanese imperial navy has dropped from sight.

Up to a late hour this afternoon (Pacific time), not a single element of the Japanese fleet had put in an appearance in any of the widespread areas of offensive action where United States and Australian land, sea and air forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur are hacking a path of progress along the island route to Tokyo.

Air power alone—and at great cost to themselves—has been offered by the Japs at Rendova in the New Georgia group and along the coast of New Guinea where Allied forces in overwhelming numbers are being deployed against enemy bases.

These operations are now in their third day, and according to a compendium of advices available the Japanese have not dared to send any of their naval craft to areas within the ever-widening range of American land-based air power.

Declare Japs Set To Attack Siberia

CHUNGKING—(AP)—The Chinese newspaper Ta Kung Pao declared today the Japanese had been rushing troops to Manchuria and said "it is plain as day" the enemy "is preparing to attack Siberia."

Three army commanders recently have been transferred to that area from the Pacific, the newspaper added. It also coupled a special Japanese military conference, which it said was now in session in Korea, with the Manchuria preparations.

Puts Jap Losses On Yangtze at 55,000

CHUNGKING—(INS)—A Chinese military spokesman revealed today that 55,870 Japanese were killed or wounded in fighting along the Yangtze river in central China between May 4 and June 30.

His announcement that only 48 Japanese had been captured in the counter-drive which eliminated an enemy threat to the provisional capital of Chungking indicated the savagery of the fighting.

Captured equipment, the spokesman said, included 646 rifles, 30 machine-guns, trench mortars and shells, and more than 300 horses. Three Jap planes were shot down and 10 river launches were sunk.

Japs Say They Were Badly Outnumbered

LONDON — (INS) — Japanese sources were quoted in a broadcast dispatched by the official German news agency, DNB, today as stating that "it must be assumed that the Americans succeeded in landing forces on Rendova which were numerically far superior to the Japanese defenders."

Palermo Palace Hit By Bombs

LONDON—(INS)—The royal palace, along with numerous other buildings, was damaged when Allied planes rained the Sicilian port of Palermo again last night, the Italian high command said today in a communique broadcast by the Rome radio.

Claim 19 Allied Transports Sunk

LONDON—(AP)—The German news agency DNB declared today in a Berlin broadcast heard by the ministry of information that the Axis sank 19 Allied transports, totalling 156,000 tons, in the Mediterranean during June.

One Allied cruiser and one submarine also were reported sunk.

This report, for which there was no Allied confirmation, listed an additional 40 transports, three cruisers, one destroyer, one torpedo boat, and 16 other naval vessels as badly damaged.

DNB declared 386 Allied planes were shot down in the Mediterranean area during the month.

Solons to Visit War Zones

MONTHS OF WRANGLING over the privilege has been climaxed by the choice of five senators who will fly around the world in an army bomber to visit American forces in the battle areas. Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky announced that the senators chosen are Richard B. Russell (D.) of Georgia, center above, chairman of the committee; James M. Mead (D.) of New York, top left; Ralph O. Brewster (R.) of Maine, lower left; Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., (R.), of Massachusetts, upper right, and Albert B. Chandler (D.) of Kentucky, lower right.

Bag Eight Enemy Fighter Planes

LONDON—(AP)—Eight enemy fighters were destroyed by British Spitfires and American Thunderbolts in separate sweeps over northern France and the low countries late yesterday, the air ministry announced today.

The British lost four aircraft in the fighter sweep and an attack yesterday morning by fighter-escorted Typhoon bombers on an enemy convoy off the Dutch coast. Three merchant vessels and four mine sweepers were said to have been damaged.

Britain passed the night without an alert, rounding out a full week since this country has seen an enemy plane.

Soviets Hammer Nazis In Crimea

MOSCOW — (INS) — Soviet planes during the night struck a heavy blow at Nazi warships and port installations in the Crimea with a dual bombardment of the port of Kerch and Sennaya, the Russian high command announced today.

The surprise assault was carried out by long-range bombers of the constantly growing Soviet Air Force and heralded increased Red army efforts to blast the Germans out of their bridgehead in the west Caucasus.

Kerch lies just across the strait of the same name separating the Crimea from the West Caucasus. Taman on the Caucasus side twice has been bombarded from the air recently.

POLICE HUNT FOR KIDNAPER

Woman Snatches Two Children Away From Grandmother.

WILMINGTON, Cal. — (INS) — Two small children, torn from the arms of their grandmother and kidnaped by a woman in broad daylight, were the objects of a widespread police search today.

The kidnaped children are Karen Richard, 3, and her sister, Sharon, 2. They are daughters of Kenneth H. Richard, a shipyard worker.

Their grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Richard, was taking them to a car line for a trip to Los Angeles when a woman got out of a maroon-colored car, knocked the grandmother down and tore the children away from her.

INCREASES BEEF POINT VALUES

Cheddar cheese retains a value of 8 points a pound, but lower values were established for group 2 and 3 cheeses. Group 2, which includes cream, neufchatel and creamed cottage cheese (containing more than 5 per cent butter fat) now are listed at 2 points a pound, and group 3, made up of swiss, brick munster and all other rationed cheese, 5 points. In each group there is a decrease of 1 point.

OPA also announced 17 changes in point values of processed foods, 12 upward and 5 downward.

Point value advances were made in seven vegetable items, and five canned bottled fruits. These increases range from about 5 per cent for vacuum-packed hole kernel corn to over 50 per cent for tomato catsup and chili sauce. Processed foods marked up include apples, apricots, fruit cocktail, peaches, pears, fresh lima beans, canned corn, peas, tomatoes, catsup, chili sauce and tomato paste, reductions were made in fresh shelled beans, green or wax beans, tomato pulp or puree and some tomato sauces.

The new "blue coupon" costs become effective July 4, and will remain valid through July. Pork point values were not increased, OPA said, because supplies of pork available during July are expected to be substantially larger than beef. By keeping pork point costs relatively cheap in comparison with beef, OPA hopes to whet the American appetite for pork.

In line with beef increases on the general list, OPA advanced point values for all kosher cuts except variety meats.

Here are some of the new point values for preferred beef cuts, all up on point:

Porterhouse, T-bone, club, and sirloin steaks, 12 points; boneless sirloin, round and flank steaks, 13 points.

Beef roasts, for the most part, went up 1 point, but some advances were 2 points. Beef stews and numerous other cuts also went up 1 point.

Lamb-mutton advances included: Loin chops, 10 points, up 1; leg chops and steaks, 8 points, up 1; leg roasts and sirloin roast, bone in, 7 points, up 1.

Only meats to show a reduction were three pork cuts—fat backs and clear plate, howls and regular plates, down 1 point a pound.

failure to secure an immediate and substantial pay raise from the War Labor Board, will be eased considerably, according to union leaders, and the men will become more tractable to back-to-work suggestions.

Meanwhile, a checkup revealed that the majority of the idle miners were enrolled in UMW District 2, embracing the Johnstown-Clearfield area, where more than 35,000 diggers adamantly declined to take up their shovels. Approximately 10,000 in this tri-county section have resumed mining.

Both District 5, including the vast Pittsburgh industrial section and District 4, centering around Uniontown and the rich Connelsville coal coking region, each have about 5,000 miners out.

CHANGE PLEAS

5 Placed on Probation After Admitting Guilt.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch placed three persons on five-year probation periods yesterday after they changed pleas to guilty to indictments returned by the grand jury.

Stella and Lawrence Burrell of Cleveland, who were indicted on three charges of forgery were placed on probation to Cleveland authorities.

Chester Lawhorn of Olive Hill, Ky., changed his plea from innocent to guilty and was placed on probation for five years.

He had been indicted on the charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

CHAPTER XIV

As the convoy conference adjourned, Halifax, that incongruous combination of dingy red brick English village and concrete, New World boom town, was limbering up for the evening The streets were crowded As Elder and his friends left the boathouse and headed for the Queens Hotel, they saw the uniforms of the United States, Britain, Free France, Norway and Poland They saw white men, red men, black men, men in kilts and men in fezzes, Chinese, Malays, Sikhs who wore green turbans and black spade beards, whose eyes were like smoldering coals and whose noses were hooked like the fierce beaks of hawks. The polyglot sound was like that at the building of Babel

"Vous avez ete blesse, alors?"

"Et comment! Deux fois, an entre et au bras! Et dans le entrem il y a encore deux moraux d'obus . . ."

". . . And so I say to him, I says, 'Now look 'ere, yer bleedy nut, y're talking to a gempman" and with that I grabs 'Im by the throat, I does, and I bumps 'is thirsty 'ead on the sidewalk . . ."

The dining room of the Queens was crowded Elder, Vanderhoven and Le Prieur found a table near the door, ordered dinner and fell to talking shop

* * *

Just outside in the lobby, an elderly artillery sergeant, who wore the ribbons of the Mons star and several other World war decorations, was suddenly moved to song

'Sitting in the 'Ouse of Commons
Trying laws to put down crime,
While the victim of 'is pash-shuns
Walks the streets without a dy-y-yme . . ."

"Gosh there's an old song!" chanted Elder 'I remember the first time I ever heard it. It was one night in Liverpool, during the last war'

"Ach, the last war!" Captain Vanderhoven put down his soup spoon and shuddered "Will we ever, ever, ever be able to say 'the last war' and mean it as the last war for all time—instead of merely the one before this?"

"If you didn't think so—if you weren't sure of it—you wouldn't be here now!" said Elder

Captain Le Prieur nodded and looked down at the scarlet Cross of Lorraine on the France Libre badge pinned to his right breast "We can all be sure Because there is a God!" he murmured, confidently.

"That I know!" said the Dutchman. "He is a kind God, a just God!" He shuddered again and closed his eyes 'I know He will forgive me for the moment when I—I—almost cursed him!"

"Oh? What moment was that, Van?"

Captain Vanderhoven's eyes were still closed as he replied. "That moment," he said slowly, "the exact moment, was thirty-one minutes past one in the afternoon. The afternoon of May 14, 1940. In Rotterdam . . ."

"Oh?"

* * *

"Yes" He paused for some time before resuming 'I—I am sorry that neither of you gentlemen never met my wife She was a good woman We were happy, so very happy, for all the nine years we had each other And then, one day, she told me that we were to be—happier still! Our prayers had been answered!

"Well, I had orders for Java but I left with a light heart Her health was good, and I knew that I would be back in time In Batavia, her letters were waiting for me—gay, happy letters, because all was going fine We called at four or five ports along the coast, picked up our rubber and started home At Aden there were more letters Hers were as gay as ever, but there was one from her mother which seemed worried Worried about my wife Worried that the Germans might come into Holland Of this war talk, I was not troubled 'It is talk,' I said, 'just talk, more talk" But of my wife, I was troubled greatly Somehow, I felt, I knew, that I must get home to her quickly And so, going up the Red Sea, I am always at the speaking tube, asking Mr Veidt my engineer, to squeeze another knot out of her And at Suez there is some question about our canal tolls, but I sign the chit without wasting time to argue

'We are well into the Mediterranean when we hear that the Germans are on the move I send a wireless to my owners, asking for orders Should I put into Gibraltar, or some English port? The answer is 'Proceed to Rotterdam' I know, now, it was the Fifth Column The Germans wanted that shipload of rubber! But at that time I am relieved because I must get to Rotterdam—to my wife!

"And so finally we are there We dock below the Schiedamschedykstraat and no sooner are we made fast than I rush ashore, jump into a tram-car and start for my home The people in the tram-car all are saying that the Germans are in the suburbs, but they are not excited. Some say we can defend the city, others say we will accept a 'peaceful occupation,' 'a protective occupation' But the wattman calls back from the platform that on his previous trip he has heard firing, and seen three hundred bombers landing in the fields just east of the city. But—of this I do not worry I worry of my wife'

"So I get down from the tram at the Zeelandstraat I walk, I run, to my house, it is at Zeelandstraat Number Twenty-four. Outside it, I see the little black Opel car of Doctor Zeimer, and leaning against a tree is a bicycle—a woman's bicycle There is a white wicker basket on the luggage rack behind the saddle, and so I recognize it as the bicycle of Mrs Rhenst she is the neighborhood midwife

"My heart stops, because it is a month too early But—I go in There is no one around I smell chloroform Standing in the hall outside the bedroom door I see the little carved oak cradle that for three hundred years all Vanderhovens have lain in Then the bedroom door opens and out comes Doctor Zeimer He has got his coat off and his sleeves are rolled up And he—yes, he is smiling!

"'Why, Captain!' he says, 'Welcome home! You're just in time, old boy! Ha, ha! Yes, yes! For a while we were worried, but now everything is going fine!'

"I try to push him into the bedroom, but this he will not permit 'No no, old boy—not yet, not yet!' he says to me 'Go outside on the straat, smoke one cigar and by the time you have finished we will have good news for you!'

"'Doctor!' I cry, grasping him of the hand. 'You are not having me on Doctor? Everything is really all right? You are not pulling my leg, Doctor?'

"'No, on my word of honor! Go to the outside and smoke a cigar! And save one for me, old boy!'"

* * *

Captain Vanderhoven paused, raised his glass to his lips and then put it down without drinking

'Just then," he said, "just then . . . we both hear it. It is a little sound—mew! like a kitten! Doctor Ziemer slaps me on the back and runs in at the bedroom door 'See you in a minute—papa!' he hollers me . . .

"And so I go outside on the Zeelandstraat, which has a little canal flowing along beside I am smoking my cigar and feeling so very happy, and when the policeman comes along on his bicycle I give him also a cigar It is a very good cigar which comes from Sumatra The gendarme smells it and says me, 'Oh, thank you, Captain! I cannot smoke it now, but I will put it in my helmet and smoke it later'

U. S. Tank Parade To Bear Names Of Coast Cities

MARYSVILLE, Cal —(U P)— The full military strength of the 13th armored division at Camp Beale, near Marysville, is a secret, but on July 4, when each of California's 290 cities and 58 counties has one of the division's tanks named after it there won't be names enough to go around

California adopted the division on Flag day by proclamation of Gov. Earl Warren. And on Independence day the division will parade its strength before the governor and state officials.

The tank of Maj Gen John B. Wogan, commander of the division, will be christened "California" Behind the general's tank will roll others bearing the names of each of the state's 35 counties and each of its almost 300 incorporated cities—from sprawling Los Angeles with its two million to tiny Trinidad with its population of exactly 95

Workers Resent Pay Inequalities

SUCH DISCONTENT of workers as is reflected in strikes, slow-downs and complaints by coal miners and other industrial employes seems to spring more directly from knowledge of cases of extremely high wages permitted by the government, rather than from consideration of average pay in various lines of employment.

Startling disclosures as to wages being paid some war workers were made this week by Congressman Albert J. Engel, in a report to the house of representatives.

The report made by Mr. Engel was based on personal investigation of the wage situation in 47 leading war industries and a study of his findings goes far to explain why millions of workers feel that they are being unfairly discriminated against by the War Labor Board in its adherence to the "Little Steel" formula.

"We find," the Engel report says, "machinegun assemblers being paid a wage rate in 1942 which ran as high as $8,741 a year. On the other hand we attempt to freeze a half million coal miners at wage rates that give them annual earnings of from $1,200 to $1,700."

Also worthy of thought is Mr. Engel's statement: "Soldiers and sailors have to learn not only to take down and assemble these same machineguns blindfolded, but to fight with them, and some of them get as little as $50 a month."

Inexperienced girls getting $65 a week for factory work (more than the base pay of an army major); unskilled workers, fresh from farm, filling station or store, being paid from $120 to $220 every two weeks; girls receiving $55.80 a week at a government arsenal while learning how to repair shoes to be worn by soldiers who get $50 a month—these are a few of the examples of inequalities cited by Mr. Engel in his report to congress.

Human nature, in which the acquisitive instinct is quite well defined, resents obvious inequalities, as in the case mentioned by Mr. Engel in which an arsenal superintendent who was receiving $6,500 a year salary after 38 years of employment, told that a defense plant had offered his $4,000 a year assistant foremen $6,500, plus a $5,000 bonus, or $11,500 a year.

It is general knowledge of such wage discrepancies that irritates workers from whom similar largess is withheld but who are held equally subject to high taxes and mounting living costs.

Stubbornness with which the federal administration turned down all appeals to institute effective wage control in time to prevent the present fantastic situation must be held largely responsible for this condition—and unless a corrective can be found for existing inequalities, and wage excesses brought to reasonable levels, the thus far mild winds of inflation will soon attain hurricane velocity—to the detriment of everybody and possibly to national bankruptcy.

Traitor Spared From Noose

MAX STEPHAN, Detroit traitor, has made good on his early boast, "They'll never hang me, Hitler will save me"—but it was NOT Hitler, but President Roosevelt, who intervened, within a few hours of the time set for Stephan's execution, to spare the weeping traitor from the noose.

President Roosevelt's yen for the dramatic was given fine opportunity for play on this occasion and the possibilities for Hollywood adaptation are obvious.

Stephan was a sergeant in the German army during the first World war and later became a naturalized American. His sympathies remained with Germany and he aided in the escape of a Nazi flier from a Canadian prison camp. He was tried by a jury and found guilty of treason. The death penalty was imposed. The court of appeals twice denied him a new trial and the United States Supreme Court refused three times to intervene. Execution date was set three times.

Stephan had been given the benefit of every legal recourse, instead of being summarily executed, as he would have been in Germany, or brutally tortured, as he would have been in Japan.

President Roosevelt, in commuting Stephan's sentence to life imprisonment, finds that the death penalty was too severe and that the act of treason was not a maturely initiated plan and was more like murder in the second degree, or manslaughter in the first degree.

It may be hoped that this act of intervention in the processes of law against convicted traitors will not encourage other similarly inclined enemies of this nation in time of war to feel that American processes of justice, through established court procedure, need not be seriously regarded.

Why Not Have a Test Case?

REQUIREMENT for a new "use tax" stamp on automobile windshields started yesterday.

Many motorists are driving their cars today without having bought a stamp—the price of which is $5. Some boast that they have never paid this tax, which has been in effect for the past year and a half.

This is a federal tax assessed against all automobile owners who use their cars on streets and highways. Driving a car without paying this tax constitutes a serious offense—but payment has been left voluntary rather than made compulsory.

Why not make a test case of it. Arrest one motorist who is driving his car without having paid the "use tax." Then watch what happens. If he is subjected to punishment the incident will serve as a warning to others who think they can "get away with it." If he is not found guilty of any offense others will learn that they are under no obligation to contribute $5 for a small piece of gummed paper called a "use tax" stamp.

Control Over Materials

ON AND AFTER July 1 all controlled materials needed for building construction must be procured through a preference order. Among those listed as controlled materials are concrete reinforcing bars, steel pipe, steel wire and wire products, including nails, and copper wire and cable.

Persons planning to make repairs on their homes will have to keep those orders in mind. There will doubtless be enough of such materials to do whatever is necessary, but there will be none to spare, and the "controlled materials plan" is intended to prevent hoarding or waste.

Start of Offensive Against Japan Shows Increase In Allied Strength

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

WE SHALL do well not to rush to the immediate conclusion that the operations being carried out in the Pacific represent the beginning of a wholesale offensive.

However, it already appears to be more than a minor operation. It looks as if we intended to do a hop-skip-and-jump westward through the islands, and two logical objectives, among numerous points which might be occupied, are the big Jap bases in New Britain and northeast New Guinea.

The prospects are fascinating, and if things go well the drive might swell into a very big operation.

Secretary of the Navy Knox summed the thing up succinctly in his speech in Los Angeles when he said that power to decide where the next blow will be struck in the Pacific "now rests with our side, and it will continue to rest with us for the duration."

Meanwhile, British Premier Churchill's statement that it's probable there "will be heavy fighting in the Mediterranean and elsewhere before the leaves of autumn fall" invites us to the pleasurable anticipation that the already fast-moving Allied war machine may hit high-gear in the European theater soon.

Mr. Churchill purposely leaves considerable to the imagination. However, if his declaration that there will be heavy fighting not only in the Mediterranean but "elsewhere" means elsewhere in Europe, then he may be talking about a general onslaught on Hitler, that is, invasions from several directions.

* * *

SHOULD this mean invasion of western Europe it certainly would be a happy answer for Russian Generalissimo Stalin, who is pleading for that second front right now, at what he regards as the opportune moment. Indications are that he himself is all set for a violent blow at the boche in conjunction with a major Anglo-American onslaught.

Of course the time element is a big factor. If a general offensive against the all highest could be got under way well before winter arrives to hamper fighting with bad weather, there's no telling how far the Allies might push the Nazi chief by the end of the year. It might be a very long way.

In this connection the colorful British skipper tosses in our direction the phrase "before the leaves of autumn fall." Well, that gives us a fair amount of leeway for speculation. The experts tell us that astronomically the autumn begins September 22 and ends about December 21. However, the popular conception of the fall is rather different.

In the United States we generally look on September, October and November as autumn. But in England many people think of it in terms of August, September and October. Your guess is as good as mine as to just what Churchill means by "autumn."

Still, whatever period he has in mind, if America, Britain and Russia can hit Hitler from all sides before winter is too close, it might give wonderful results.

* * *

WE ARE ASSURED that pending the arrival of autumn the Anglo-American air navies will increase their terrific blasting of western Europe until "there is no industry or military target in Germany that will not receive, as we deem necessary, the utmost application of the exterminating force." Every day that this hammering continues, der fuehrer's knees sag so much more.

Into this general picture—which the British prime minister certainly doesn't view through dark glasses—fits perfectly his statement that June is "the best month we have ever known in the war" for the destruction of enemy submarines. The Allies are regaining the mastery of the seas, and our ships are criss-crossing the oceans with the cargoes upon which the aerial offensive and the coming land invasions depend.

Thus as Hitler's resources are being swallowed up in the deluge of bombs, the Allied striking power is increasing by leaps and bounds. That combination of facts spells the victory which is now absolutely certain for the United Nations.

I don't take Churchill's statement as meaning that we must wait until autumn to witness heavy fighting in the Mediterranean. As previously pointed out in this column, as things now stand we may get an invasion of Sicily and perhaps Sardinia at any time.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

WELL there ought to be a sign over the door of the White House reading "Through these portals pass the most administrators in the world."

* * *

When you get three food administrators in three months and still no food plan you begin to wonder if the administrators are living out of overnight bags.

* * *

From what we can pick out of Chester Davis' letter he had his name on the door, his hat on the rack and his feet under the desk.

* * *

But the policies came out of the mouth of someone else . . . and don't look now but guess who?

* * *

Davis was no synthetic agriculturist either. He was editing a big farm paper as far back as 1917. Then he was Montana's commissioner of agriculture, director of grain marketing for the State Agricultural association, and executive vice president of two corn processing firms.

* * *

You will hear people tell you that what's needed in Washington is teamwork. What they mean is "Who'd like to play horse while I drive?"

* * *

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

White House Advisers Differ On President's Split With Congress

WASHINGTON—Current rowing between the president and congress is viewed by White House advisers with a mixture of philosophy and alarm. The White House staff is so big these days that you are bound to get all shades of reaction, beginning with that of worried Marvin McIntyre who recently told a friend on the telephone:

"When you have as much on your mind as the president and Winston Churchill, you can understand why things at home come second."

"Yes, Mac," said the president's friend, "but if the Boss doesn't watch the home front, the ground may be cut out from under his main war objectives."

Marvin agreed.

More philosophic advisers, on the other hand, point to the problems which Woodrow Wilson had with his last congress, the congressional rows with Coolidge, Hoover and Teddy Roosevelt. They argue that this friction is bound to develop, and that domestic legislation especially suffers during a war.

This, of course, is true. But it is also true that friction increases the further away a president gets from his honeymoon days with congress; the longer he stays in office.

* * *

Anti-Strike Confusion.

HOWEVER, nothing explains away the glaring White House ineptitude of last week in not notifying Capitol Hill leaders that the anti-strike veto was coming so they could have the president's own labor supporters present to try to sustain him.

That ineptitude substantiates what many have felt for a long time, that with all the high-powered White House secretaries and a special assistant, ex-Congressman Jim Barnes, supposed to coordinate between the White House and congress, there just isn't any coordination.

Note: One difficulty with every president is that he hasn't the time to see many people, has to filter his views through the eyes of advisers. In the last year or so, Roosevelt's advisers have changed. He sees less of congressional leaders, more of Harry Hopkins, the genial Pa Watson and the charming Princess Martha of Norway. And because of the war, he has to devote a great deal of time to military conferences with admirals and generals. The domestic front and congress take a back seat.

* * *

Governors' Merry-Go-Round.

THE Governors' conference, with police motorcycles and special cars whizzing all over Columbus, set no example to gas-saving Americans. Highlight of the meeting was a lovely junket of 80 miles in 50 cars to inspect a nearby war plant for no purpose at all. . . . Perhaps they wanted to equal the record of Maryland's first lady, Mrs. O'Conor in driving to Charleston, S. C., in a state car. . . . Ex-Governor George White, Democrat, who deserted FDR for Willkie in 1940, this time seemed to desert Willkie for Tom Dewey. . . . When Dewey arrived in Columbus, he completely stole the show from the Bricker crowd—women rushing up to shake hands, admirers crowding the hotel lobby. Finally when young Tom looked around for his Bricker aide to escort him to his own hotel, ex-Gov. White stepped up and offered to take Dewey off to his home for the night. . . . At the starch-bosom banquet Dewey was the only man appearing in a business suit . . . Ambassador Davies made a good speech at the dinner, but the most talked of incident was the fact that when he mentioned Roosevelt's name as commander-in-chief, you could have heard a pin drop. There was not one ripple of applause. . . . "I felt like yelling Heil to see if they would all stand up," remarked a waiter. . . . Some Bricker leaders claim that the Taft boys are secretly backing Dewey now in order to block Bricker—thus creating a deadlock from which Taft would emerge as the nominee. They say it is a favorite Taft trick to put a rival candidate out in front early, then let the politicos take pot-shots at him.

Anti-American Propaganda.

CONGRESSMEN who are so free and easy about cutting off funds for domestic propaganda for the Office of War Information should eveasdrop some evening on many Italian-American families when the short wave radio from Rome is turned on.

It is no crime in this country, as in Europe, to listen to the short wave radio, and millions of families of European descent do it. Furthermore the Axis, having no congress to worry about, has its short wave propagandists on the job every day. Mussolini's minister of propaganda, for instance, puts on Flavius Guidi, former Italian newsman in New York, from Rome for Atlantic seaboard Italian-Americans, while California Italians tune in on Antonio Mannu from Tokyo.

One of Guidi's broadcasts, heard by an Italian-American family in Schenectady, went something like this:

"Today there came over the playgrounds of our children a great bird. It was a bird which once stood for bravery and courage. It was the American eagle. Playing below it in the public square were some little children. They were on a merry-go-round. You have all seen a merry-go-round and you know it is no military objective.

"Then suddenly the great American eagle came over the playground and dropped its bombs. After that there was no merry-go-round and no little children. Only pieces of clothing and chunks of red meat. That is what the once brave American eagle is doing to our children. That is what you are doing every time you buy bonds to help pay for these eagles of death."

Axis Poison.

THIS is the only one sample of the poison being poured in on Italian-American families day in and day out. The Schenectady family listening to this broadcast had bought more than its quota of bonds. The father worked in a war plant. They were above average in their patriotism. Yet when they heard this broadcast they wept.

The poison regarding American planes bombing children could be easily refuted, because American pilots have a miraculous record for hitting military objectives in precision bombing. But a hog-wild congress, bent on cutting off all radio propaganda on the domestic front, wants to let Axis poison from Rome go unchallenged.

Note: Smart Dr. Frank Gigliotti, patriotic Italian-American from California, promptly looked up Mussolini's edicts banning the use of gasoline or oil for all entertainment, including merry-go-rounds, pointed out that the incident broadcast by Guidi could not have happened because no merry-go-rounds are operating. This type of counter-propaganda is what OWI wants to broadcast to Italian-Americans—if not barred by congress.

ERNIE PYLE — Roving Reporter

Head of the Red Cross In Africa Has Big Job and Is Doing It Well, Ernie Says.

NORTH AFRICA—(By Wireless)—There is one awfully important American in Africa who has been mentioned very little. That is William E. Stevenson, head of the American Red Cross over here.

Stevenson organized and ran the whole vast Red Cross setup in England. Then, starting from scratch, he built the now immense Red Cross system in Africa. And wherever the American army goes next he will move with it and do the same thing all over again.

Stevenson's job is unromantic but it is more vital than many a general's. A good portion of the morale of the army in Africa depends on his decisions. His employes run into the thousands. He spends millions of dollars a year. His daily headaches, though less important, are as numerous as General Eisenhower's.

He has to be a pioneer, a businessman, a diplomat, a dean of women, a military expert and a wheedler of small favors, all in one. Yet until a year and a half ago he had never dreamed of organizing anything bigger than a committee and had never thought twice about the institution known as the Red Cross.

Stevenson has been successful because he is smart and because he is honest, in the deepest meaning of the word. He has no sideline ambitions and no axes to grind. He wants nothing for his future out of the Red Cross nor out of the army nor out of Africa or England or Italy or anywhere else.

He is simply serving for the duration and serving with his whole being. When it's all over he will go back and take up where he left off—which was at the head of an outstanding young law firm in New York City.

* * *

STEVENSON is tall, handsome and athletic. He looks 10 years out of college instead of nearly 20. He is a minister's son, but didn't follow either of the two paths taken by so many ministers' sons. He neither turned pious nor went to the dogs. He wound up as a perfectly normal, well-balanced fellow, humorous and capable.

He was born in Chicago, but due to his father's changes of pastorates he lived also in New York, Baltimore and Princeton. Bill's father wound up as president of Princeton Theological seminary, so it was Princeton where Bill went to school, after prepping at Andover. It amuses him that he recently—while faraway overseas and in no position to assume any duties—was elected a trustee of Andover, which he left 25 years ago.

Stevenson is now 42. He was just old enough to get into the marine corps at the tail end of the last war, and served a few months in the states. He graduated from Princeton in 1922, then went on to Oxford as a Rhodes scholar and studied law for three years there. He likes and understands the English, but he didn't go British nor adopt the Oxford accent.

He was American champion in the 440-yard dash in 1921, and took the British championship for the same distance in 1923. Then in '24 he went to the Olympics at Paris and ran on the 1600-meter relay team that set a new world record.

There is one strange feat he is proud of. In '21 he won the quarter-mile for a Princeton-Cornell team competing against Oxford and Cambridge. Then he went abroad, and in '25 he won the quarter-mile for the Oxford-Cambridge team against Princeton-Cornell. That's what is known in some circles as working both sides of the ocean.

* * *

IN 1926 Stevenson returned to New York and went to work. His first job was as assistant to District Attorney Buckner. Bill went into the prohibition branch, because it paid $1,000 a year more, and he needed the thousand to get married on. Buckner practiced what he enforced about prohibition, and insisted that his men do likewise. As a result the Stevensons couldn't even drink champagne at their own wedding. Mrs. Stevenson still thinks it was an outrage.

A little prohibition work goes a long way, so before long Stevenson went into the law firm of John W. Davis. He stayed there till 1931, when he formed his own partnership with Eli Whitney Debevoise. They were successful from the beginning. They have had as high as 21 lawyers on their staff.

Our entrance into the war caught Bill Stevenson in that same shadowy borderline stage of life that caught me. He was too old for combat duty and too young not to want to have a finger in the pie.

He didn't know what to do. He could have gone to Washington and donned a soldier suit with oak leaves on his shoulders and sat at a nice desk, but that somehow seemed ridiculous to him. He waited and looked around, and after a while he heard that the Red Cross needed a man to go to England.

He knew nothing about the Red Cross but thought his law experience and three years of school in England might come in handy. And it was a chance to get across the water and into the heart of things. He got the job and here he is.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Two Farmers

I KNOW two men who lived for many years on adjoining farms. One was a tall, nervous-mannered individual who took his farming very seriously. He prided himself on planning for any emergency.

Before spring came, he always had spare parts on hand for his machines, the harness mended, the fences in good order. At planting time he worked from dawn to far into the night. There were no holidays on that farm from spring to fall. The boys helped do the work, their father did the planning.

Each night he planned in bed, when he might have slept, how to save time on the morrow. He worried if it rained too much or too soon; he wondered if the corn were planted too deep, or if the boys did well to mow so much hay down all at once when it might get wet. Before the wheat was ready to cut, I saw him go, impatiently two or three times a day, and rub some of the grains out into his palm, to test them. That was some years ago.

Last week I passed that way and stopped. He told me his boys had both left the farm when they became of age to work in the city. His two girls had married and lived away.

"I'm not farming any more," he said. "I'm only staying here. Had a nervous breakdown four years ago and can't do hard work since. Now my wife wants me to sell and move to the village. She seems to hate this place. . . . I don't know why. So do the children. It would be wonderful, sure, if only one of the boys would come here and live. It was my folks' place—the old homestead. I even offered the oldest boy half of the land and all if he'd come back, but he said he didn't ever like farming. He seems contented in the dirty, noisy city. I'll never understand why."

* * *

THE OTHER farmer was a thrifty, good-natured type, rather corpulent and witty. His large round face reminded me always of a harvest moon.

He worked and ate well and had time for all the community frolics and reunions. He was popular with his neighbors, and would let weeds grow high at home, sometimes, while he helped some neighbor.

This man is now in his 70th year—hale and hearty. He and his wife have built themselves a modern cottage beside a woods, near a favorite spring. The oldest boy, who became a county agricultural agent, moved on the home place and will operate the farm. Two other boys have farms of their own.

"I guess things turned out pretty well," the old man told me, happily. "The boys all love the land like we did when we worked together. Now the frau and I can stay right here, where we like to be, and see it gettin' better every year."

To Prove Women Aren't Bad Luck on Ships

By ARLENE WOLF
(AP Feature Writer)

Who ever said women were bad luck on ships? 'Way back in the days of sorcery and superstition, the men may have been afraid to have us on board, but these days, things are different.

The nine women I accompanied on the first feminine war workers' inspection tour of a warship were not only good luck for the submarine Dace, but without them, it wouldn't have been a submarine at all. Those women make the valves that put the sub into submarines.

Eager Workers.

Nine eager heads poked out of the car windows for the first sight of a sub as we drove up to the Electric Boat company in Connecticut The Jenkins Bros. valvemakes fidgeted impatiently while a guard took precious minutes to hand out special passes and identification tags. Weren't their Army-Navy and Maritime "E" pins enough identification?

"I just can't wait to get inside that sub and see the valves we make all installed and ready to lick the Axis," white haired machinist Marie Forgette said. "I don't think any of us have ever been nearer to a submarine than the movies"

"Look, there's one of ours now," squealed Carmen Dodriguez, pulling my arm violently

Of Valves and Things.

I looked. I didn't know the difference between a valve and a vise, but let it be stated for the record that there are all sizes of valves, most of them about two hundred times the size of the one on your radiator And they're brass instead of chrome or nickel.

There wasn't much to see above deck on the 313 foot Dace, except the workmen who were drilling hundreds of holes through which plating will be riveted to make the sub watertight

"All our stuff is down under," one of the women decided. "Let's go look."

The whole deck was only 22 feet wide, so we separated into groups to go below, where workmen were still installing equipment The idea of going down was much simpler than its execution, and I wondered how those of us with a little extra avoirdupois were ever going to fit into that small round hole (the hatch) and descend a perpendicular ladder. We did it though with only two torn stockings as casualties.

We landed in the forward torpedo room, which, incidentally, also holds about half of the sixty-odd bunks on the Dace. Those sailors sleep peacefully on their collapsible flat-spring bunks — with torpedoes under and over them all the time! WAVE Ensign Mary Bailey assured me that it was safe, because the things that set off the torpedoes weren't set, but personally, I prefer my explosives a little further away.

Into Maneuver Room.

We crawled over women sewing asbestos on the sub's pipes, over workmen drilling and riveting, then ducked through a rounded hatch into the maneuver room. Here, in a space about the size of a small kitchen, were all the gadgets and levers that control the sub's speed and torpedo's aiming. The engine room didn't look much larger.

As we stumbled through the rest of the sub, every once in a while one of the women stopped and screeched "There's one of our valves" and then all nine would try to cram into one square foot to get a good look at their handiwork

The valve-makers looked curiously out of place on the sub, and as a matter of fact, they looked more like the housewives they really are than precision workers. But they knew all about valves.

MEN AT WORK: The gals who make the valves join naval personnel to watch workmen install their handiwork on the submarine Dace.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

At Dicky's plaint, Katharine rose, and walking over to him took him by the coat lapels as he rose with his usual courtesy, and shook him to and fro

"Look here, Dicky bird'" she said. "You're getting hallucinations. You know us. That's your loving spouse over there—Madge—and I'm the old family friend, Katrina. You ought to know there's no use trying to put anything like that over on us. We know that you can rise to your loftiest heights only when you have an audience. Of course we concede that this time it will have to be a hidden one, but you will feel its reaction and its urging of you on, and you will give a most brilliant performance"

"I'll promise to outdo Booth himself if you'll only quit talking, Katrina," Dicky said

She let go his coat lapels, and laughed saucily up at him.

"I'll be satisfied if you'll just quit beefing about something you really like," she said Then she turned to me:

"How about a nap before dinner, or would you rather have one afterwards? You're going to be awake quite some time from two o'clock on you know, and you really should get some sleep in advance"

"Oh I couldn't sleep now!" I said, "and I warn you both that any nap I take after dinner is going to be on the couch in this room. Dicky will have to get me up from there, so as to set the stage for Ruth Hayes, but he might forget about me if I were sleeping anywhere else."

"Insinuating I'm a double-crosser, eh?" Dicky growled But his grin belied the growl and I wrinkled my nose at him

"I don't care what you call it," I told him, "but—"

"But you don't trust me," he finished for me. "Well, I can't blame you. I wouldn't wake you unless I had to. Suppose we play a game of three-handed something until dinner?"

"Suppose you play a game of two-handed chess," Katharine countered, smiling, for she well knows the fondness Dicky and I have for the game. "I'm deep in a novel I'd like to finish tonight if I can. I think I'll take it to bed with me when I'm parked in that other suite."

She walked back to her chair, adjusted the reading lamp beside it, and picked up a book

"Au revoir, children," she said, smiling at us, and I brought out the chess from my desk, while Dicky set up a table, and spread the folding chess board upon it. We finished our game, luckily, just a few minutes before seven and my father's entrance to tell us that dinner would be served on the minute.

We spent a most enjoyable hour at the dinner table. Even Katharine was in good spirits, partly, I knew, because of her release from the fear of having to encounter Ruth Hayes, and partly because of the promise my father had given her of reunion with her husband at the hideaway after the affair involving Ruth Hayes was settled

When dinner was over and cleared away, my father came back with us into my sitting room

"I've arranged for the guards," he said "They'll take their places on the balcony at midnight and until then, we'll all simply be marking time I have that Myers apartment and the house under strict surveillance, and I think, when we put the final quietus on Ruth Hayes, we can clear out that undoubted conspirators' nest"

He paused for a second, while his glance went from one of us to the other.

"We must all be in our appointed places a little before two o'clock" he said. "At that hour a messenger will deliver a regular telegram to Ruth Hayes at the Myers apartment. It will read: "Mrs. Bickett too ill to keep her appointment tonight She will be there tomorrow night at the same hour"

He paused again, and looked at me

"It will be signed with your name," he said

Dicky broke in irrepressibly

"And will that burn little Ruthie up!" he exclaimed. "She'll go into whirlwind action"

"She almost certainly will" my father said, "but of course we must face the possibility that she may take the telegram at its face value. However, my lookouts near the Myers apartment will report to me just what her activities are."

"And if she should decide to call it a day, we could lay off, too," Dicky said "Ain't so, Dad?"

East ripped off two diamond tricks and made South ruff the third, whereupon the declarer, a careful planner, gave himself every possible chance to make his contract. He settled the outstanding trumps in two rounds, took in the spade tops and ruffed the third one so that he had no side suit cards remaining except clubs He went back to the dummy with a trump and led the club 2.

Now just see what East did. He played his 4, whereupon South knew he was safely home. He put on the 8 and West had to win the trick with the J. South didn't care what West returned. If it was a spade or diamond, he could ruff in the dummy and discard the club Q It happened to be the club 7, which the Q won, so he lost only one trick in that suit and made his contract

East should have seen what South was up to, and should have put the 9 on the club 2 lead. That would have compelled South to try the Q finesse, which would have failed, beating his contract. Even if East had held only the 9, as a fairly high club without the 10, he should have played it, to try to prevent South from saving his Q while making West win the trick.

BRILLIANT U. S. ATTACK CATCHES JAPS NAPPING

Eyewitness Says Offensive So Brazen It's Very Nearly Incredible.

we swept in toward the reefs waiting for the enemy to show he was still around after the terrific aerial battering he received the last few days prior to the landing.

A quarter of an hour later the loudspeaker connecting the battle circuit of ships participating in the operation crackled. The calm voice of a destroyer captain announced: "They're shooting at us. They're shooting at us."

Several shells fell around the leading destroyer. The commodore spoke over the battle circuit, "We can outrange them; move over." Immediately our guns opened fire. Within 10 minutes the first shore battery to open up was silenced completely while the second kept quiet in order not to give away its position.

The destroyers on the stern flank edged up to Munda again attempting to get the enemy to fire. The enemy couldn't resist and resumed fire and that battery was silenced for good.

Outside Renard, small landing boats—dozens upon dozens of them—plied between ship and shore.

Three times more in the course of the morning we on the destroyers were under fire from Munda beach but the Japanese had no more luck and each of these batteries were knocked out.

In the course of the morning two air raid alerts sounded and the transports, screened by destroyers, weighed anchors and grouped into formation in preparation to beat off an air attack. This delayed the unloading for a couple of hours but although a few enemy planes came over they were downed by our magnificent day-long fighter screen before they could make an attack.

By 1515 (3:15 p. m.) the job was done. Every man, every piece of equipment was on the beach and we were off on the return voyage to base. Then came the third air raid alarm of the day.

Twenty-five torpedo planes flying low were seen. Fighters swooped down in hot pursuit of the Japanese machines as they roared over the mainland of New Georgia. There were sharp, short dogfights.

The battle reached its full fury as the planes closed in to effective ranges for dropping their torpedoes. A majority of the planes shied from pressing the attack on the empty transports. Instead they came at the destroyers which were spewing flames from the turret guns and thousands of tracers from automatic weapons.

Four planes were coming our way, strung out behind one another. The tracers were pouring in and the shrapnel seemed to burst right in the faces of the men in the planes. The first machine was within 150 or 200 yards when it dropped a torpedo. Orders to turn the vessel were shouted but our range was too short.

The torpedo crashed into the port bows of the sturdy little vessel. Then came a series of dull thuds and jars as the torpedo, deflected in its course, bumped and bounced harmlessly against the side of the ship.

Two more tried the same trick of the bows but their torpedoes missed. One of the planes burst into flames.

The fourth plane came on the starboard beam. His torpedo rushed underneath the ship.

The attack lasted no more than 10 minutes, possibly less, but in that time anti-aircraft downed 12 Japanese planes.

For us on the ships the day was over.

Deadlock Cuts OPA, WPB Paychecks

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Congressional failure to complete action of 1944 appropriation bills was reflected today in the short pay checks of thousands of government employes.

The only break in the deadlock upholding funds for 18 war agencies, four departments and President Roosevelt's own emergency fund was senate-house conference agreement to cut senate figures for the offices of price administration and war information.

A congressional summer recess until mid-September was abandoned until next week.

First to feel the effects of the appropriation delay were employes of the war production board, the office of war information, lend-lease administration, and the central administrative services.

Unless the deadlock is broken within the next week, the paychecks of every other newly created war agency will be affected. In jeopardy in the event of a lengthy deadlock are the paychecks of employes in such old line government offices as the agriculture, interior and labor departments and the federal security agency.

Would Revive Food Stamp Program

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Sen. George W. Aiken, R., Vt., expecting a presidential veto of his bill outlawing the OPA's rollback-subsidy program, today proposed as a substitute revival of the food stamp plan to protect low income groups against high food costs.

Aiken said his plan was an advance answer to Mr. Roosevelt's expected argument, if he vetoes the anti-subsidy bill, that opponents of subsidies have no "better hold." The president has said several times that he had asked opponents of subsidies for an alternative way of holding prices in line, but that they had not produced one.

Aiken hopes to have his legislation ready for introduction in the senate today. He said "it may be described as the stamp plan brought up to date with its earlier faults eliminated."

BATTLE SNOW, ICE, TO BUILD AIRLINE RADIO

Alaska Gets Range Station Leading To Principal U. S. Army Posts.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — How one small mission instructed to strengthen American fighting lines battled Alaskan snow, ice and sub-Arctic gales and accomplished its job is told by Pan American Airways, which employed the men.

The construction crew battled Alaskan blizzards and glacier streams choked with ice to set up a radio guide station on the air route to military posts in Alaska. Engineers were instructed in these cryptic words:

"Proceed installation glacier base soonest possible. Must be operative within 28 days. Anticipate difficulties but need urgent. Know you can do it."

Difficulties? Listen to this:

The men loaded four tons of supplies into a 25-foot skiff for the first lap of the trip up treacherous rapids, dodging huge chunks of vicious ice. Half-way through the 40-mile trip a raging williwaw (Alaskan blizzard) struck the party churning the river into an impassable barrier and finally sinking the skiff.

The boat was rescued, the supplies saved and carried by hand to the nearest shore. Next morning the four tons of precious equipment were loaded on dog teams and moved on to the first stopping point. Ten of the 28 days were gone.

"Was it safe to cross the river directly ahead?" they radioed. The operator, because of censorship restrictions, could only reply, "Well, a pack of wolves crossed yesterday!" They went on.

The final stage of the journey was the most difficult. They hacked a trail through two miles of thick underbrush pushing the unwilling dogs ahead of them. Finally at their destination they found it easier to carry the 8,000-pound load up a steep slope themselves, rather than try to push the dogs and sleds.

Working all night with only brief snatches of sleep, praying that the comparative quiet of the weather would hold, the engineers got a 45-foot steel tower in position and placed the transmitter in working order four days from the time they arrived at the site.

Just before midnight of the 25th day, a message was flashed to Seattle: "Pan American station x x x Censored Alaska ready and standing by for orders."

STILL HAVE PAY RAISE CHANCE

Railroad Men See Way Out In Vinson Ruling.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)— A wage increase for 1,000,000 non-operating railway employes today appeared to be still possible under Economic Director Fred M. Vinson's opinion disallowing a general eight-cent an hour increase.

In an opinion, handed down last night, Vinson said he had disapproved the eight-cent increase because it was based on alleged gross inequalities as shown by a comparison of railway rates with wages in other industries. Such a comparison was held to be irrelevant under the "hold the line" order.

There's a $100 War Bond in your gasoline tank

And enough in the tanks of all American motorists to buy a billion dollars' worth of heavy bombers to help blast our way to victory

THAT'S RIGHT. It's there in your tank—a crisp, new $100 War Bond—just as surely as if you unscrewed the cap and lifted it out.

What's more, there's a War Bond like it in the gas tanks of over ten million other cars with "A" and "B" stickers on their windshields. Enough to buy a billion dollars' worth of War Bonds. Enough to put an additional 3,000 heavy bombers in the skies over Germany and Japan.

Figure it out for yourself. You used to drive around 10,000 miles a year. With an "A" book, that's down to less than 3,000. And that 7,000 miles you won't be putting on the speedometer means more than 400 gallons of gasoline you won't be putting in your tank.

The saving? Enough to buy that $100 War Bond.* An extra bond—in addition to those you're buying regularly with 10% of your pay check.

Seems kind of appropriate, doesn't it, to use the money you're saving on gasoline to help give a lift to our boys on the road to Berlin and Tokyo?

What do you think?

THE OHIO OIL COMPANY, Refiners and Marketers of

GASOLINE AND OIL . . . BEST IN THE LONG RUN

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK—Like the distracted southern mule whose emotions were so horribly churned hen, early in the New Deal and contrary to gen- ations of training, he was set to treading on the tton to plow it under, the writer of advertise- ents, a high-strung, temperamental specialist of r professional elite, is currently suffering a iritual strain too ghastly for human endurance.

Pegler

The hurtling bodies of three have just passed the high win- dow of the office in which these mellow essays are composed. That makes nine out of one building in the center of the ad- vertising region in the last week.

On the desk of one who end- ed it all, an unfinished page of copy was found, and a farewell note. The advertising copy con- cerned one of our best railroads noted for its de luxe trains, the brass grill, tailboards on the ob- rvation cars and the suavity and grace of its ning-car service. The victim had been schooled years to entice the public to ride these trains d had developed a succulent style of which he s extremely proud and yet, of late, had been der orders to reiterate his old familiar seduc- ns but nevertheless to keep the customers off s line.

It was this that got him, finally. The first y times he got by with small intimations that, er all, the railroads nowadays were carrying a vy extra burden of military traffic, in view of ich it might be wise and patriotic of civilians to travel unnecessarily. Although, of course, did owe it to one's self to visit the old folks enever possible, and to get away from it all order to come back refreshed from the grim k of winning the war on the home front. But se had not been sufficiently persuasive and so, his last page of copy, he had written, "We have vonderful railroad but keep off, and this means t!" The farewell note said merely that some- ng had snapped within him, and asked Bruce rton to forgive his heresy.

A commotion in the corridor just now has been lained by the manager of a luxurious agency down the hall. They were sending one of their $100,000-a-year men to Bellevue hospital for re- straint and observation. His specialty was hotel advertisements and he was, indeed, one who could make a mildewed pile of the jig-saw period, resting on its haunches by an up-country frog pond, sound like a castle in the air.

"Our meals used to be very good but now they are awful," he had written, "and, moreover, we are overcrowded and our help is not merely in- competent but insulting, and frankly we would consider it a favor if you would take your business somewhere else and save us the trouble of turning you down at the desk."

The man who writes for the laundry chain is still going through the motions, but has been acting strangely of late and his wife confided to the boss that this business of telling the public what won- derful work his laundries do and then warning one and all that it is no use to send in the wash because it can't be handled, is quickly getting him down. She put a psychiatrist on him.

For years and years he had been a high-score- man in the laundry-advertising line, booting in a colossal tonnage of sheets, shirts, panties and such, and then abruptly orders had come through to divert all possible business to the laundries of rival companies by brutal warnings that only per- sons of pro-Axis disposition would be selfish enough to patronize his firm and that those who did so would be turned in to the FBI.

The star of the chain-store grocery account is going around lurching into walls and falling over wastebaskets. His latest copy read: "So you think you are going to walk into our stores and carry off our groceries, do you? Well, just who the hell do you think you are? Our premises are guarded by armed officers who shoot to kill."

And a writer of restaurant ads is under con- stant surveillance of two ex-prize fighters with orders to protect him from himself, since he has been compelled to write insulting little messages to the public to the effect that prospective customers are all hogs who eat up their own points at home and then dine out, robbing the honest restaurateur.

It is like asking a sheep dog to kill the ewes. Some would rather die and the rest will never be the same.

CHARGE FFC HAS INTERFERRED IN WAR'S CONDUCT

Chiefs of Staff Report Fly Contributed To Disaster at Pearl Harbor.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Claiming it "has substantially established" that the federal communications commission has interfered with the war effort, the Cox committee today made public a report to President Roosevelt from the joint chiefs of staff accusing the FCC of having "endangered the effectiveness and security of military radio intelligence."

The report, dated Feb. 1, 1943, and forwarded in a joint letter by Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of Navy Knox together with their endorsement of it, urged "that the better prosecution of the war will be served by terminating all military and quasi-military radio intelligence activities of the FCC."

At the same time, the committee—created by the house last February to investigate the FCC—made letters public from its counsel, Eugene L. Garey, to Knox and Stimson stating that evidence had been gathered by its staff showing:

1. That the FCC's chairman, James L. Fly, contributed "to the Pearl Harbor disaster" through his "successful activities in defeating" an attempt by the army and navy before the Jap attack "to arrange for the elimination of Japanese language broadcasts" in Hawaii.

2. That "failure of the FCC" to have merchant marine radio operators examined promply by the FBI resulted in "protests made by the admirals in charge of convoys."

3. That "for nearly seven months after Pearl Harbor" Fly refused "to turn over to the FBI, at the request of the FBI and the navy, the fingerprints" of the the radio operators for a check on their loyalty, and that when they were finally turned over, the "incompetent manner" in which they had been taken by the FCC resulted in the fingerprints of 55,000 operators proving "useless and of no value."

The report which Knox and Stimson sent to Mr. Roosevelt on Feb. 8, was over the signature of the president's own chief of staff, Admiral William D. Leahy, who had signed for the joint chiefs of staff — Leahy, Gen. George C. Marshall, Adm. Ernest J. King, Gen. Henry H. Arnold and Brig. Gen. William J. Donovan.

EXPECT U. S. TO ASK ROBERT FOR FULL SURRENDER

Offer From Commander of Martinique Raises Policy Question.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Authoritative sources in Washington today indicated that the United States government may insist upon unconditional surrender as the only terms on which it will accept the capitulation of Admiral Georges Robert, high commissioner of the French West Indies.

The question of whether to apply the unconditional surrender policy of the United Nations to Robert is being given active consideration by the state department.

The matter was taken up for consideration after the navy department had delivered to the diplomatic branch of the government a copy of the capitulation offer received from the French admiral.

In his communication to the American government, Robert offered to negotiate with the United States for a transfer of his authority to some other French official under certain conditions.

These conditions were that the United States should guarantee to maintain the sovereignty of the French possessions and should also promise that there would be no intervention in those possessions by American forces.

The question immediately in official Washington minds whether the United States should make anything in the nature of a deal with a French admiral who has stubbornly refused to cooperate with the Allies, and has insisted on considering himself a representative of the Vichy French government.

In the first place, it is recalled that the state department on April 30 formally announced it would not negotiate with any French representative in the Antilles who "remains subservient to or maintains contact with the Vichy regime."

Furthermore, it is considered highly questionable whether the interests of American security would permit this government to give a commitment that U. S. forces would not intervene in the French Caribbean possessions.

The view prevails strongly in some high quarters that the United States must reserve complete freedom to act anywhere in the Caribbean in defense of the Western Hemisphere.

3,000 CASES OF WHISKY HELD UP

State Impounds Liquor Until 'Pool' Refunds Overcharge To Retailers.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS - A liquor depart- ment official said today 3,300 cases of out-of-state whisky impounded here would be held until permit holders showed a buying pool had refunded amounts which ran pur- chase payments to more than dou- ble list prices.

Tom Craig, administrative assis- tant to Liquor Director Don Fish- er, said data recorded with the state for import clearances listed prices ranging from $20.90 to $21.75 a case.

"We determined the retailers actually were charged $55 per case, so we withheld delivery of the shipment until payments in excess of the actual cost were refunded," Craig said.

Fisher's assistant reported he was informed Franklin county members of Ohio Taverns, Inc., bought 5,200 cases of liquor from a Chicago distributor through two Columbus agents, but that 1,900 cases still were at a Vincennes, Ind. distillery.

Craig said whisky impounded at a Columbus ware house would be released "to permitholders who have evidence they received their refund," and added that some had receipts to show the money had been paid.

Fisher cautioned that permit- holders found dealing in black market liquor operators faced pos sible revocation of their licenses.

Bootlegging, too, is becoming troublesome, Fisher added. He ex- plained that bootleggers were transporting liquor from other states and selling direct to retail- ers in circumvention of the state monopoly.

Berger also announced that the fee for truck and trailer licenses had been decreased one-fourth.

"When," Pop asks us, "has any star outside of westerns made the money Tom Mix and Bill Far- num did? Mix got $17,500 a week, 52 weeks a year. Bill Farnum got $10,000—52 weeks a year.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Despite a lack of organized competition and loss of many stars to the services, golf will make a notable contribution to the home front war effort on Aug. 7-8 at Detroit when Walter Hagen's All-Stars and the Ryder Cup players meet again for the Red Cross, with a match between the Haig himself and Gene Sarazen a possibility. They expect to draw about $25,000 worth of customers to see the biggest golf event of the year. If Hagen and Sarazen meet in one of the matches they might have to call out the Marines to police the Plum Hollow Country Club.

"The Red Cross will get all the dough and it should be a sizeable chunk again, especially with Hagen saying, as he did in a conversation with me, that he hopes to tangle up with Sarazen again," said Fred Corcoran.

* * *

Corcoran is the man who used to run the national professional championships to the satisfaction of everybody and the man who only a couple of weeks ago returned from England where he had been on a tour of entertainment duty for the Red Cross. He will return to England soon after the Detroit show.

"How much money we are likely to make for the Red Cross can be gleaned from the figures on the past matches between these teams," said Corcoran. "In 1940 we raised $12,800, in 1941 $18,200 in 1942 $25,000, the 1942 proceeds going to the U. S. O."

* * *

Hagen is going to invite Major Robert Tyre Jones, jr., of Atlanta and the U. S. air forces to participate with his team, which he will captain himself against the Ryder cup hangovers led by Craig Wood.

* * *

Hagen's team will be picked from among whatever players are available—Sam Byrd, Chick Harbert, Henry Picard, Harry Cooper, Dick Metz, Al Watrous, Frank Walsh and possibly Paul Runyan, the latter now in the service.

Wood's team will be made up of himself, Jimmy DeMaret, host pro at Plum Hollow; Lloyd Mangrum, Jug McSpaden, Byron Nelson and that Sarazen, of course, with Ben Hogan, Horton Smith, Vic Ghezzi and Sam Snead eligible but unlikely starters due to their being in the service.

Russell Gnau, chairman of the Red Cross committee, and Corcoran are putting all the steam behind this one that the traffic will bear and they figure that with everybody now just about starved for some golf activity after the long drought through cancellation of the major fixtures that the show will be great and the crowd greater.

If it so happens that Hagen and Sarazen are brought together the thing will be a booming natural.

* * *

They haven't met since 1923 when Sarazen beat the Haig in the finals of the national pro championship in 38 holes. Through the years Hagen won 11 major championships and Sarazen six, the latter being a hot contender for the national open as late as 1940. That was the year he tied Lawson Little at Cleveland and lost in a tough playoff.

* * *

They happen to be two of the three guys who are remembered most deeply by the golf addicts because of the headlines they made back in the lush 20's. Bobby Jones is the other member of the triumvirate, and his presence also would go a long ways toward pulling in the customers.

And Corcoran says it will be all right with the Red Cross if the customers do like they did for the recent big baseball day.

That is, anybody who can't attend himself will be welcomed if he still will step in there and buy a ticket to send a service man, thus killing two birds with one swoop of the niblick—entertaining a service man and helping the Red Cross fund.

Sox Rookie Maintains Fast Pace

Curtwright, 31-Year-Old Rookie, Hits In 26th Game.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—When Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis cut the shackles from some 90 players in the Detroit farm system a few years ago, he loosed a flood of talent on the majors that has resulted in a remarkable succession of stars, latest and possibly best of which seems to be Guy Curtwright.

This rookie Chicago outfielder, a regular on the White Sox only because Manager Jimmy Dykes had no other choice early in the season, is crowding 31 but now is one of the lustiest sluggers in the American league.

* * *

Curtwright sports 1943's longest successive batting streak, having hit safely in 26 consecutive games after belting out a triple as the White Sox blanked the Senators, 2-0, yesterday.

* * *

Curtwright is clipping the ball at an average of .342 for 152 times at bat in 49 games. He has slammed out 52 hits, driven in 16 runs and scored 18. If Dykes had a couple more like him, the White Sox might be a lot higher than tied for fourth place in the junior circuit.

* * *

Early Wynn yielded Curtwright his triple along with eight other Chicago hits as Bill Dietrich blanked a Washington team that found Bob Johnson set at third and Gene Moore in the outfield to add to their batting power. A pair of singles, Thurman Tucker's double and Mike Tresh's sacrifice produced the Chicago runs in the seventh.

The Browns, held helpless by Rookie Don Black for 10 innings, slapped out four straight singles in the 11th to whip the Athletics, 2-1. Black allowed only two hits until the 11th when Vernon Stephens, Mike Chartak, Al Zarilla and Joe Schultz all nicked him for one-baggers.

A pinch-single by Ned Harris in the ninth with the bases loaded gave the Tigers a 3-2 win over the Red Sox in a twilight game. All three of the Detroit runs were unearned, two coming in the eighth on a walk, an error, a passed ball and a single.

Brooklyn muffed a perfect opportunity to wrest the National league lead from the idle Cardinals by bowing to the Reds, 10-9, in 12 innings.

* * *

Canny Elmer Riddle, fifth Cincinnati pitcher, provided a Merriwell climax to the game by retiring Arky Vaughan, Joe Medwick and Dolph Camilli on successive pop-ups after the Dodgers put across one run and loaded the bases with none out in their half of the 12th.

* * *

The Phillies divided with the Pirates, winning the first game, 6-1, and losing the second, 2-1. Schoolboy Rowe unwound a five-hitter in the first game as the Phillies banged out 12 hits.

The veteran righthander had a no-hitter until Bob Elliott beat out a hunt in the seventh.

Bob Klinger held the Phillies to seven hits as his mates garnered eight off Al Gerheauser in the nightcap. Elliott's double and Frankie Gustine's single provided the winning run in the fourth as Klinger pitched runless ball until the eighth.

Chicago took Boston's measure for the seventh straight time, 6-5, Paul Derringer, although he left the scene in the eighth and was followed by three other pitchers, was credited with his sixth success. Bill Nicholson paced the Cubs with a double and two singles.

SKEET SHOOT ENDANGERED

Two-Handed Star Hailed as No. 1 Netman

MIAMI—Winner of the National Collegiate Athletic association's singles championship, Francisco Segura, the South American who carries the colors of the University of Miami, is being hailed as the No. 1 tennis player of the year. The little Spaniard has gone through two tournaments—knocking off 12 opponents—without losing a set. He plays an awkward-appearing game because of an unorthodox two-handed racket grip, but he has proven that power, speed and accuracy are more essential requirements than form.

Sport Roundup

NEW YORK—(AP)—Maybe you think things are a bit dull in the sports line, but the word is that they're having a right good season in Northern Africa . . . We have this straight from Corp. Vince Murphy, occasional contributor to this column and son of Sports Editor Jimmy Murphy of the Canton (Ill.) Daily Ledger.

* * *

V-MAIL

"Probably the most interesting event yet pulled off in N. Africa, excluding Rommel's bicycle act," Vince writes, "was a softball game played recently for a $2,000 pot. It seems that a news story praising a team composed of a group of former Texas softballers playing under the name of the 'Texans' was read by members of a mid-western unit whose ball club is called the 'OMVACS.' The OMVACS claimed a prior victory over the Texans and allowed they could repeat. Upshot of the discussion was the decision that each team would wager 1,000 skins on a winner-take-all basis. Partisans of both teams were quick to collect funds to back their favorites and the game drew 3,000 fans. The OMVACS took the decision 6-4, although the Texans gave them a mighty scare in the final inning when one of the Lone Star boys hoisted a mighty drive that the OMVAC centerfielder had to take off the fence."

* * *

Nat Fleischer, historian of the ring, whose latest list shows 3,068 professional boxers and about twice as many amateurs in the armed forces, also has been hearing from Northern Africa . . . Weekly fight shows in Tunisia have been drawing big crowds and when American soldier scrappers meet up with native boxers the boys really lay their dough on the line to back their favorites.

* * *

DOMESTIC DEPT.

When Clark Shaughnessy collected his first Pitt football squad for practice the other day, he told them, "We will have as many as 10,000 pass plays." . . . And in reply to a few skeptical looks, Clark insisted that with small variations he might really approach that figure . . . Since Pitt has only six veterans on a squad of 56, one variation likely will be the play where the coach buries his face in his head and refuses to look until it's over.

Grand American Shoot Streamlined

By FRITZ HOWELL

VANDALIA—(AP)—The nation's trapshooters scurried around today in search of a case of shotgun shells—the No. 1 requisite for participation in the 41th Grand American Trapshoot set for Aug. 25, 26 and 27.

The big carnival usually a 1200-target program staged over eight days, was slashed to a three-day, 500-clay event this year because of shell shortages and travel restrictions. Ray Loring, manager of the Amateur Trap-shooting association, announced the curtailment of the program, along with an innovation requiring all participants to bring their own ammunition.

A check-up around Ohio disclosed that few jobbers had shotgun shells on hand, the supply having been erased during last fall's hunting season. However, trapshooters said many marksmen had some ammunition tucked away, while retailers had rapidly-dwindling stocks.

INDIANAPOLIS DROPS TWO TO RED BIRDS

(By Associated Press)

The Indianapolis Indians found their early-season runaway lead in the American association practically gone today.

The once high-flying Indians have lost seven of their last 10 games, whittling their league lead to a half a game and bringing about a general tightening-up in the loop's pennant chase.

The Tribe lost a double-header last night to the Columbus Red Birds, 10 to 1 and 4 to 3. Second place Milwaukee muffed a chance to move in front by dropping a decision to St. Paul, 11 to 1.

Toledo grabbed a tie with St. Paul for fifth place by beating the last place Louisville Colonels twice, 5 to 4 and 1 to 0.

Bill Lefebre turned in a six hit hurling job as the Minneapolis Millers downed Kansas City, 8 to 1.

Riddle Returns To Mound Again

BROOKLYN—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Dodgers take to the twilight today to wind up their four-game series, which so far has proved little except that you never know what's going to happen in Brooklyn.

Elmer Riddle, final and winning pitcher of yesterday's 12 inning 10-9 Cincinnati victory, is down to throw for the Reds again today, against Kirby Higbe.

Riddle worked only the 12th inning of yesterday's merry-go-round and half-protected a two-run lead the Reds put together in their half. Elmer handed out three walks and a single to let the Dodgers creep up, then he got the next three men on pop fouls.

The Reds got to Bo-Bo Newsom for four singles and a squeeze bunt to score their two runs in the 12th.

Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati second baseman, hit his first home run of the season in the sixth.

PRODUCTION CUT

BOSTON—(INS)—Brides will average only about half as much wedding-gift silverware this year as heretofore.

To make available silver go as far as possible, output is restricted to the most essential pieces—knives, forks, spoons, dessert spoons and teaspoons.

Tribe Wins on Yankee Error

CLEVELAND — (AP) — It's Ladies' Day at League park today but it was bargain day yesterday as the New York Yankees contributed a 3 to 2 victory to the reluctant Cleveland Indians.

The Tribesmen were awarded a pair of runs in the opening inning when rookie Charlie Wensloff walked Buddy Rosar and Mike Rocco with the bases jammed.

* * *

* * *

The Redskins did everything possible to keep from scoring but they couldn't help themselves in the face of the Yankees' generosity. Roy Cullenbine singled and Jeff Heath doubled in the third to put runners on second and third with none out but Ken Keltner grounded out, Rosar fanned and Rocco delivered a long fly.

Three bases on balls filled the sacks in the fifth and Hockett doubled and Manager Lou Boudreau walked in the sixth but the scoring punch was lacking in both stanzas.

Al Smith received credit for his second win over the McCarthymen and his sixth triumph of the season.

FENDRICK RECALLS TWO GRID THRILLS

Al Fendrick, who has announced that he won't return to his familiar coaching job at Madison high school next fall, says the biggest thrill of his 14-year coaching regime at the "school on the hill" was beating Shelby 12 to 6, in the 1935 football opener. He lists the Madison-Bellville game of 1939 as a close second. That's the game in which Mathes tossed a touchdown pass to Heichel in the last 10 seconds of play to give the Rams a 13-7 victory.

War Keeping Buck Prospect Uncertain

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — The 1943 prospects of Ohio State university's defending Big Ten football champions still were obscured by the war today as Coach Paul Brown reminded that fall practice—and serious football—are only two months away.

With two months of spring football training and one week of the summer variety behind him, Brown still was unable to predict what kind of a squad the Buckeyes will be able to put on the field—except that it will be the youngest in Ohio State history.

"Only —one thing is certain at this point in the season," he said. "We're trying to get our hands on every potential football player we can and teach him a little about our system in hopes that he may be back in school next fall."

Brown said the make-up of the Ohio State team depended almost entirely on the war.

* * *

"It's impossible to make any concrete plans now because we don't know who will be back and who won't," Brown explained. "Right now we have 39 of the 57 freshmen 17-year-olds who started summer practice a week ago.

* * *

"Several of them were taken by the armed forces. A few were unable to play because they couldn't meet the physical qualifications. And then, of course, there's always an unfortunate few who can't stand the grind and drop out along the way."

Most recent loss was that of Paul Zorn, Niles, O., high school star who Brown had counted on to fill a half back role. Zorn, who was 18 recently, was inducted into the army despite a punctured eardrum which was expected to make him available next fall.

Another loss which will be felt was that of Benton Kirk, of New Philadelphia, who was inducted into the marines. Kirk had been admitted to the Ohio State premedical school and Brown had counted on him as an end.

"The rest of the squad is progressing as well as you could expect a group of 18-year-olds to do." Brown said. "We're working them on a slow-but-sure basis. We want them to get our system and we want them to get it right."

Patty and Dorothy Meet for Title

CHICAGO —(INS)— A great duel between two champions of the north and the south was anticipated today as Patty Berg, Minneapolis professional, teed off with Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., in the 36-hole final match of the women's western open golf championship.

With the goal of her sparkling comeback almost within reach on the Glen Oak course, Miss Berg, winner of the 1941 event, meets a worthy rival in Miss Kirby, former southern champion and national runner-up in 1939.

Miss Berg polished off 18-year-old Catherine Fox of Glen Ridge, N. J., 7 and 6, in yesterday's semi-finals, and Miss Kirby survived a hard-fought battle to win, 3 and 1, from Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, the longest hitter in the field.

Count Fleet Aims at Whirly Money Record

Derby Winner Has Chance to Hang Up Mark as Greatest Horse of All Time

By OSCAR FRALEY
(UP Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—Count Fleet, that chunky piece of brown velvet lightning from the stables of Mrs. John D. Hertz, is the only colt on the track today with a chance of breaking the money winning record establish by mighty Whirlaway.

And Little Hammerhead, with more pickup than one of his owner's taxicabs, not only is destined to shatter Mr. Longtail's golden horseshoe, but also will become the greatest horse in turf history, it is believed in this corner.

That is a pretty large statement, particularly when you consider that the sport of kings is sprinkled liberally with the names of such equine greats as Exterminator, Seabiscuit, War Admiral and, greatest of them all, Big Red, the one and only Man O'War.

Whirlaway, the Calumet cannonball, had the prospects of stepping up alongside Big Red. But Whirly was injured last winter after piling up racing's greatest bankroll, a total of $561,161, in little more than four years.

The king of the Calumet stables made a game comeback attempt this summer. He started twice and both times failed to come through with that roaring stretch drive that made the others seem to be standing still.

Once he finished third. The next time he was out of the money, and Warren Wright retired his chestnut beauty to his red trimmed barns in the blue grass of Kentucky.

* * *

Whirlaway, not yet clothed in the garments of reminiscence which made Man O'War a legend, was and is a great horse. But there's talk around the stables and paddocks across the country that the Count will become the greatest story book horse of all. Yes, as great, if not greater, than old Red himself.

* * *

As valid a claim to greatness as any is Whirlaway's money winning record. The Calumet Colossus went to the post 60 times, won 32, was second 15 times, third in 19 races and finished out of the green only four times. But the Fleet holds even greater promise, for never has a colt so completely dominated the field. In 21 starts, the Hertz Hurricane won 16 times, placed four times and took show once—never finishing out of the money.

Of course, anything can happen to a thoroughbred, particularly a one as hard-running Count. But don't risk the old homestead on the belief he won't do it.

The only regret around the stalls is that horsemen will never know which would have won—Whirlaway or the Count—in a match race. But they all know that both are great.

Yonkers Gets Hambletonian

ALBANY, N. Y. —(INS)— The Hambletonian, the Kentucky Derby of the trotting world, will be staged this year at the empire city race track in Yonkers, on Aug. 11.

James C. Haggerty, executive assistant to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said a majority of the executive committee of the Hambletonian society had approved switching the big race from its traditional setting at Goshen, N. Y. to Empire. Empire will be given a permit to stage harness racing beginning July 26 through Labor day.

Haegg Frets About Debut

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Gunder Haegg, the attenuated shadow from Gavle, Sweden, holder of a half dozen world running records, looked forward gloomily today to his first appearance in Chicago competition.

He worried about the weather. He hoped it wouldn't be too hot. He knew he wouldn't equal his own mark of 8:47.8 for the two miles and he had a haunting fear (or so he said) that Gil Dodds, the Boston divinity student, would beat him at that distance when they meet tonight at Soldier Field.

One hundred and fifty athletes were entered for tonight's Central A.A.U. meet, but of them all the unsmiling Swedish phenomenon was the one who captured the public imagination.

A crowd nearly mobbed him at the station when he arrived yesterday from his eastern retreat. They kept on his heels until his trainer-interpreter, Siegfried Steinwald, hustled him to the seclusion of his hotel room away from the excitement for a long rest.

Even the fact that Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, the greatest pole vaulter of all time and usually the acclaimed hero, was to participate in the meet failed to take attention from the somber, wraith-like Swede who breaks records with effortless ease.

* * *

Haegg, like a good sportman, expressed pleasure when he heard that his compatriot, Arne Anderson, running at Gothenburg, Sweden, had just shattered Haegg's own record of 4:04.6 for the mile by exactly two full seconds.

* * *

Anderson is an old friendly rival of Gunder's. When Gunder went on his record-breaking spree a year or more ago, Anderson most frequently was the man who furnished the chief competition. Gunder recalled that when he set the 4:04.6 world record for the mile, Anderson ran second, "about five seconds back of me."

Brothers Accused of Attempt To Shoot Pair.

Two colored men who said they were brothers from Montgomery, Ala., were in the city jail today after they allegedly made two attempts to shoot John Chambers colored, of 384 East Marshall avenue and attacked Luther Ray, colored, 140 Oakenwald avenue. The brothers were arrested by police about 3 a. m. today at 228 North Franklin avenue.

Chambers went to police headquarters to report that the attempts to shoot him were made after he had engaged in an altercation with one of the brothers in front of the Picket Fence club on North Diamond street.

As he came out of the club later, both brothers were waiting for him and one reached for a gun, Chambers told officers. He ran through an alley as two shots were fired at him, he related.

When Luther and Robert Ray, friends, took him home he found the brothers waiting for him again and one of them opened fire as Chambers fled through an alley, he said. The pair then attacked Luther Ray, one of the men threatening him with a gun while the other hit him in the face, Chambers related.

When arrested, one of the brothers had two 32-caliber cartridges in his pockets, police said.

RAILROADS FACE HUGE REFUNDS, OFFICER SAYS

Sees Possible Re-Payment of 200 Millions to U. S. on Land Grant Rule.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — Railroads may have to refund to the government between $175,000,000 and $200,000,000 of their 1943 earnings because of "land grant deductions" for shipments of certain war materials, A. F. Cleveland, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, said today.

Testifying before the emergency board of the national railway labor panel, hearing the joint wage demands of five railroad brotherhoods, Cleveland explained that the "land grant deductions," dating back to pioneer days, provide 50 per cent rate reductions for carrying government troops, property and mail.

These deductions, he said, applied to certain railways which originally received grants of land to aid in their construction, and to other competing railways "under an equalization basis."

"At present," he continued, "there are unsettled questions between the railroads and various governmental agencies as to whether land grant deductions applied to many shipments handled by rail in 1941 and 1942. The government is contending that money heretofore paid the railroads is subject to recovery under the land grant deduction provisions. . . .

"For the year 1942 alone, the amount in dispute between the railroads and the government, which the railroads may have to refund if the government is successful in its contentions, is somewhere between $175,000,000 and $200,000,000."

Two railroad witnesses took the stand to refute charges of "sharp shooting" practices at away-from-home terminals. The charges were made by A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who claimed many railroad workers were held unnecessarily at the terminals, thereby losing hours of work.

F. H. Stull, chief train dispatcher of the Great Northern railway, and H. E. Hinshaw, superintendent of the Hannibal, Mo., division of the Burlington railroad, said no such practices existed.

J. G. Kerr, chairman of the Southern Freight association, told the board the railroads will have to meet greater competition than ever before from air lines, motor trucks, and other forms of transportation after the war ends.

The hearing recessed until Tuesday.

Orders Taverns to Roll Back Prices to March '42 Level

TOLEDO—(AP)—The Toledo district OPA today warned 33 taverns in this area to roll back prices of drinks sold over the bar to levels of March, 1942, or face court action. Both the size and price of drinks must conform to the 1942 level with the exception of small increases allowed to compensate for the recent federal excise tax.

Continued violation will bring legal action under the general maximum price regulation act seeking to put the violators out of business, OPA officials announced.

The warning was sent to 17 taverns in Toledo, two in Maumee and one in Waterville. Nine cafes in Lima, O., were sent similar notices, as well as two in Rossford and one in North Baltimore, O.

BACKS DRIVE

Union Representative Lauds Price Rollback Plan.

Endorsement of the CIO-AFL program to roll back prices was made public today by Charles Yagoda, national representative of the United Office and Professional Workers of America, CIO, in a letter addressed to Philip Schwanger, chairman of the local public affairs committee.

Yagoda, in extending his support for the roll-back campaign, initiated by the committee, said:

"There can be no stabilization of the nation's economy unless prices come down to a point within reach of the consumer. The soaring prices have dangerous potentialities. They encourage profiteering, black markets and illegal bootlegging of food and other necessities. Mostly, they incure the war effort."

If you have a job so that you can repay in small monthly payments, you are welcome to apply for any amount up to $1000. The sooner you repay the less your loan costs. Example: A $50 loan repaid in 6 monthly instalments of $9.24 each costs $5.44—if repaid in one month the cost is only $1.50. No endorsers or guarantors are ever needed. GAINS RULE IN EARLY TRADING ON MART TODAY

Boardrooms Told 17 Billions In Cash Circulated During Week Ending June 30.

On the upside at a fairly active opening were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda, General Electric, American Water Works, Chesapeake and Ohio, Western Union, Woolworth and Union Pacific. Numerous issues were unchanged.

Boardrooms studied the Federal Reserve summary disclosing money in circulation jumped $266,000,000 to a record total of $17,420,000,000 during the week ended June 30. Attention also was given the Dun and Bradstreet survey estimating this week's retail spending throughout the nation exceeded that of the like 1942 period by 12 to 16 per cent.

CHICAGO—(AP)—A firm undertone prevailed in grains at the start today but activity fell off sharply from the two previous sessions as traders were inclined toward caution in view of the rapidity of the recent advance.

Wheat started ¼ lower to ⅝ higher, July $1.48½; September $1.48¾-1.49, and rye was unchanged to ½ higher, July $1.03½.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

PLACE SLIPS OF WATER CRESS IN A GLASSFUL OF WATER TO ROOT THEM

Watercress In the Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Ass'n.

Watercress is easy to grow and while it is found growing naturally in brooks and around springs, it can be grown successfully in the Victory vegetable garden in a shady, moist corner.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, watercress will root easily from pieces of broken off stems placed in a glass of water or a small box of moist sand. Frequently when purchasing a bunch of watercress many stalks will be found which have roots already started at the nodes.

Watercress can also be grown from seed planted in a flat of light soil. Later transplant the seedlings into other flats or, as illustrated, a tub having a well-manured soil. The tub can be sunk in the ground if one desires to have the effect of a tiny pond. Fill the tub only to within three or four inches of the top with the manure-soil and once a week allow fresh water to overflow the tub. Ground charcoal will help to keep the water sweet.

When once established watercress grows rapidly and can be cut during the summer and on into the winter, if the season is mild.

Watercress can be grown as mentioned above or in a greenhouse bed or a cold frame if kept well moistened. Seven or eight weeks after sowing seed and sooner from cuttings, the leaves should be ready for a first harvesting. Once the flower buds develop the leaves are too sharply flavored for enjoyment.

ARRESTED ON BRIBE CHARGES

FBI Says Clevelander Picked Up as He Handed Money To WPB Investigator.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The FBI today announced arrest of Charles Kerpen, Austrian-born industrialist of Cleveland, O., on a charge of violating the federal bribery act.

Kerpen, the FBI stated, was arrested at union station in Washington as he allegedly handed $2,000 to a WPB official.

The official, whose name was withheld, had told the FBI of an offer of "hush money" which he said had been made to him in New York June 26 when he questioned Kerpen, who was associated with a Cleveland sparkplug firm, on possible irregularities in his sales of scrap rubber and reliners.

The FBI stated it arranged for the official to meet Kerpen at union station after the latter had allegedly proposed a rendezvous to pay $2,000 if the official would drop the investigation.

The arrest was then made as the FBI said money was passed to the official.

Kerpen was naturalized in 1938 at Brooklyn, N. Y., after residing in the United States since 1921. He was released on $5,000 bond after his arrest.

Explodes Idea That Gunfire Produces Rain

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—(INS)—In the good old days when they didn't have anything worse to do with cannon, they sometimes used to discharge them during a drought with the naive idea that the disturbance would produce rain.

L. A. Hawkins, executive engineer of the General Electric laboratories in Schenectady, says he has been getting letters recently indicating that some folk still have faith in this method of rain-making. They ask if perhaps the battles in Russia or North Africa don't have something to do with the seemingly endless rainy weather there.

Hawkins says no. The way the idea got around, he thinks, is that armies usually wait until dry weather to get moving, then by the time they've been on the move a bit a normal rainy period arrives.

Furthermore, the barrages of cannon and bombs may seem pretty stupendous to man, but Hawkins says "they are utterly puny and ineffective compared with the forces that control the weather."

Thirty-Five Register — A total of 35 Mansfield boys have registered at the Y.M.C.A. to attend the second period of Camp Nelson Dodd from July 11 to July 23, Louis Jisa, camp committee chairman, announced. Jisa said five more Mansfield or Richland county boys can be accommodated. Boys have until next Thursday evening to register.

Richland, Ashland Slaughterers to Appear at Hearing

Twenty-two meat slaughterers, including an unrevealed number from Richland and Ashland counties, had been ordered by the Cleveland OPA headquarters to appear at hearings in Youngstown today to defend themselves against charges of violations of government meat regulations.

An OPA investigator was in Richland county recently checking slaughterers for failure to register with the county agricultural war board, keep within their quotas, and maintain sanitary conditions on their farms and in shops.

Most of the charges involve failure to register as slaughterers and marketing meat without government inspections, it was said.

Of 338 farm and butcher slaughterers checked in the 19 counties, only 71 were complying fully with all OPA and food distribution regulations, OPA officials said.

CALL JONES IN

Congressmen Invite Him To Air Dispute With Wallace.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Big and rugged Jesse Jones, was invited up to Capitol hill today, into the congressional spotlight searching for details of the feuding between him and Vice President Wallace.

The house rules committee asked the commerce secretary to testify, ostensibly, on a resolution by Rep. Coffee (D-Wash.) proposing an investigation of financial assistance by the government for development of the Shipsaw Power and Aluminum project in Canada.

But Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) committee member, said the session likely would devote itself to an inquiry into the Wallace-Jones ruckus. Meanwhile, Senator Bridges (R-NH) proposed that the senate military committee investigate relations between the board of economic warfare (BEW) headed by Wallace, and the Jones-directed reconstruction finance corporation (RFC), in the purchase of war materials.
